Plane Crashes Into Hangar; 14 Killed

Holiday Toll Hits 300 Mark

11 Yale Students Perish In Crash

SEATTLE—(AP)—The week-end death toll from holiday accidents leaped above the 300 mark last night when a plane loaded with Yale university students crashed seconds after its takeoff, killing 14 of the 30 persons aboard.

Of the 301 holiday deaths, 205 were caused by traffic accidents and 96 by miscellaneous accidents, including fires, falls, asphyxiation, exposure, and shootings.

Twenty-seven Yale students from Washington and Oregon had chartered the DC-3 from Seattle Air Charter, a non-scheduled operator, to take them back to New Haven, Conn., after the holidays. The other three aboard were crew members.

The plane roared down an icy runway just at 10 p. m. Ten feet off the ground it faltered, struck the ground and crashed into the end of a Boeing Airplane company experimental hangar.

Lynn Brown, a Boeing field employe, estimated the plane was going 80 to 100 miles an hour when it struck the hangar and burst into flames.

"I ran over to the burning plane and helped some of the fellows who were on the ground there," Brown said. "Others from the crashed plane were running around crazily and I helped quiet them.

"I saw one man with his hair on fire, screaming and moaning."

The impact and explosion split the right side of the plane. Some escaped by scrambling through the broken fuselage; others through the door.

NEAR GASOLINE

Firemen struggled to attach cables to the battered plane so it could be hauled from the hangar, where a new Boeing Stratocruiser stood loaded with 2,000 gallons of gasoline. They pulled loose the tail section and rear fuselage portion, but the front part was jammed in a charred mass against the revetment.

Hours after the wreck rescuers still were removing burned bodies and trying to identify victims.

Thirteen were taken to hospitals soon after the crash, several badly burned. Some left the scene unaided, adding to difficulty of determining the number killed.

Fred H. Godfrey, an inspector working in the hangar, said he was telephoning when the crash came.

"I thought it was an earthquake," he said. "There was a terrific explosion, and someone yelled 'Let's get out of here.'"

There was no immediate explanation for the mishap, except for the slick runway—made icy by freezing rain and snow. Brown said both plane engines appeared to be functioning as the plane lifted.

He said the left wing appeared to dip; then the craft dropped, bounced and swerved. The state patrol reported only one wheel track showed on the runway at the point of impact.

Three of the 14 killed in the crash were crew members aboard the plane.

Youth Makes Fatal Choice

PORTLAND, Ore. —(AP)— Two parents who told their son goodbye and watched him walk toward a waiting train at Portland were astounded last night to hear that he was listed among 30 persons aboard a chartered plane which crashed in Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Haerle said they did not want their son, Dave, to fly and persuaded him to return to Yale university by train. They purchased a ticket for him, drove him to Union Station in Portland, told him goodbye, and watched as he walked across the platform toward his waiting train.

Last night, when informed that their son was aboard the plane, they were certain a mistake had been made. They were sure he was aboard the train.

On the plane flight out from the East, George Cole, a student at Yale with young Haerle, had stopped at their home. Last night Cole telephoned to say their son had been aboard the plane, and had occupied a seat just behind him as the two-engine transport took off on its last flight.

Court Upholds Bans

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The Supreme court ruled today that states may prohibit the closed shop and all other union security provisions in labor contracts. The court upheld the "anti-closed shop" laws of Arizona, Nebraska and North Carolina. The American Federation of Labor and state affiliates had challenged the constitutionality of the state laws.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Walter Bedell Smith asked President Truman today to relieve him of his post of ambassador to Russia.

Fight Marks First Hour Of Congress

Lines Form On Rules Change

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The Democratic-controlled 81st congress convened today at 12 noon ((EST) and a headlong battle promptly began over President Truman's drive for a sweeping post-war "New Deal."

Republican leaders laid down a barrage of opposition to an administration attempt to change the House rules, charging that such action would make a "czar" of incoming Speaker Rayburn (D) Tex.

A crucial vote was slated this afternoon on administration-backed attempts to curb powers of the House Rules committee, and the fate of Mr. Truman's liberal legislative program may hinge on the result.

The outcome will show how firmly the administration is in control of the House and whether the more controversial parts of President Truman's legislative program stand a good chance of enactment.

Some southern Democrats were strongly opposed to narrowing the power of the Rules committee and hoped Republicans would join their cause in force. The House GOP steering committee was expected to decide this morning whether to call for an all-out fight against the administration.

The rules committee in recent years has been the graveyard of some measures ardently backed by the liberal Democrats. Notable among these was a fair employment practices bill pigeonholed by the committee in 1945.

Under House procedure, after a bill has been approved by a legislative committee it must get rules committee clearance before getting to the House floor. That's where the rules committee has been able to wield virtual life-and-death power over legislation.

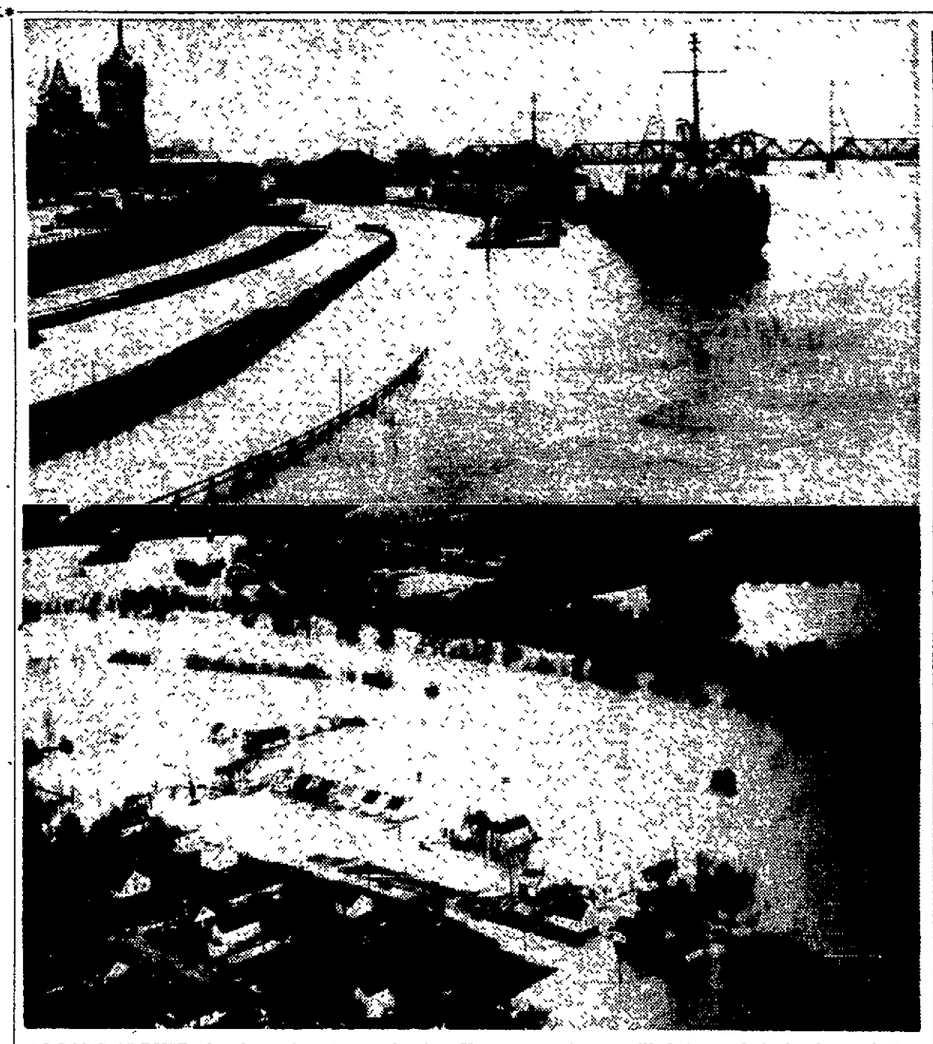
The only alternative to rules committee action has been to get the signatures of 218 members—a majority of the House—on a petition to discharge the committee from further consideration of a particular measure.

Democratic leaders at their party caucus Saturday came up with a plan for liberalizing the old procedure. They proposed that when a bill has rested in the rules committee for as long as 21 days, the chairman of a legislative committee which has approved a bill have a right to ask the House to decide whether to consider the measure.

Ohio Legislator Claimed By Death

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The 98th Ohio General assembly lost its first member even before it convened today, with the death this morning of Paul R. Barnes, Columbus republican.

Barnes, who was to have begun his fourth term, operated a drug store. He died at his home following a short illness.



FLOODS STRIKE—In the wake of record rains, East coast rivers spilled from their banks, isolating several towns and forcing the evacuation of others. The Hudson river (top photo) covered Quay street at Albany, N. Y., so that a converted LST finds itself in mid-river although moored to the dock. Among the marooned towns was Manville, N. J. Overcome In Truck

Police Revive Smithville Man

A 21-year-old Smithville trucker was revived with the help of a police inhalator early today after he apparently had been overcome by monoxide fumes in the cab of his truck.

Westinghouse police found the unconscious man in the truck on Wayne street near the Westinghouse plant about 6:30 a. m.

The victim, Harold DeGarmo, was reported in "fair" condition at General hospital where he was admitted for observation.

Mansfield police were summoned to the scene and finding DeGarmo unconscious, summoned the police ambulance and revived DeGarmo with the inhalator.

Police said the truck motor was idling when they arrived.

Taft Seen 'Sure Thing'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate's Republican "Old Guard" today crushed a rebellion by self-styled "liberal GOP senators, paving the way for reelection of Senator Taft of Ohio as the party's policy leader.

Senator Tobey (R-NH) told reporters the vote was 29 to 13 to change the rules and permit Taft's re-election.

The rule reported to have been changed prevented the Ohioan's continuance as policy leader because he has held that post four years.

'Bandits' Now Called 'Mister'

Shanghai City Body Asks Reds For Peace

SHANGHAI—(AP)—The Shanghai city council today went over the national government's head and asked the Chinese communists for a cease fire order and the beginning of peace talks.

The appeal was sent in a radio message to the communist capital at Yenan for relay to all Red leaders.

The text of the message as approved by the city council Sunday evening and announced today said:

"On behalf of the 6,000,000,000 people of Shanghai communist leaders are asked to order an immediate cease fire and leaving everything to discussions between your representatives and those of the government."

The message was addressed to "Mister" Mao Tse-Tung, No. 1 Chinese communist. Use of the formal "Mister" was the first time an official body in Nationalist China had addressed the Chinese communists by anything other than "bandit" since the war started.

The Shanghai council asked that the message be relayed to other communist leaders, Chou En-Lai, Chu Teh and Gen. Chen Yi.

"If you gentlemen really aim at liberation of the people," the message said in part, "your first step should be to relieve their sufferings."

The message suggested that "the people be the final judges in case peace talks degenerate into another dispute."

URGE ACTION

In separate messages to other city and provincial governments in China, the Shanghai council warned that the next few days might be crucial and a chance for peace might vanish. They urged the others to join the Shanghai appeal.

The message to Yenan added:

"Whether the life of the nation is to be saved or ruined, whether the people will continue suffering or enjoy peace is now up to you . . . The aged and weak are on the brink of starvation . . . The country has been turned into an inferno. We people have suffered from war. Do you gentlemen have the heart to continue to see us suffering?"

The message was signed by Pan Kung-Chan and other members of the city council.

'I Can't Lick The Militia!'

POMEROY —(AP)— Mayor Sidney Spencer said today that Gov. Thomas J. Herbert had promised to send in National Guard troops, if necessary, to maintain Spencer in office.

In view of these developments 'Kid' Canaday abandoned his plans to preside, as mayor, at tonight's meeting of the city council.

"I've done some crazy things," the former prizefighter said, "but I'm not that crazy. I'd look kinda silly with the militia throwing me in my own jail. "I can't lick all them guys in the militia."

Blizzard Howling Eastward

22-Inch Snow Falls In West

(By United Press)

A raging blizzard howled out of the Rocky Mountains across the western plains today and weathermen warned conditions were "highly dangerous."

The storm was accompanied by heavy snowfall that reached a depth of 22 inches in some sections. High winds whipped the flakes into drifts that halted or slowed highway, air and rail traffic.

Temperatures dropped rapidly as the cold air whistled down from the Canadian arctic.

The storm was the latest in a series of bad weather conditions that plagued the nation through the holiday period.

Gusts as high as 70 miles an hour were clocked in some exposed areas. At Rapid City, S. D., 58-mile-an-hour winds pushed the mercury down to two below at 2 a. m. (EST).

Trains ran 12 hours late in eastern Colorado and western Kansas where the swirling snow reduced visibility to zero in many places.

Forecasters at Chicago said the blizzard resulted from a low pressure area centered over the Texas panhandle.

The storm was moving eastward rapidly and was expected to sweep the Great Lakes with snow late tonight. Forecasters said it might have sufficient strength to "go all the way to the east coast."

The big storm was a part of a general pattern of bad weather from the Pacific Northwest to New England.

Mountain storms in California left highways snow-blocked and treacherous as football fans returned homeward from the bowl games.

About 1,000 persons who fled from their homes because of floods in western Massachusetts, Connecticut and Vermont began the task of cleaning the silt and debris from their houses. Colder weather halted the upland thaws and slowed the floods over the week end.

Four deaths were attributed to the high water.

The forecast for Ohio is: Cloudy and not so cold with rain in south portion and rain or snow changing to rain in north portion today, rain and not so cold tonight; Tuesday rain changing to snow becoming colder or windy in afternoon.

Planes Bomb Jerusalem

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Jerusalem was bombed by unidentified warplanes last night, bringing a new threat of Jewish retaliation against Cairo.

There were two raids. At least five persons were injured in the first, when three bombs were dropped on a densely populated Jewish quarter.

An Israeli spokesman said in Tel Aviv that if the bombers proved to be Egyptian, the raid would be sufficient reason for the Jewish air force to strike at Cairo.

A Jewish spokesman said Saturday that if the Egyptians attacked Tel Aviv again, either by sea or air, the Jews would attack the Egyptian capital.

Slayer Calm After Talk With Chaplain

Robert Murl Daniels, the swaggering, boyish-faced Columbus youth who murdered three members of the John Niebel family in a Fleming Falls road cornfield on July 21, goes to the electric chair at 8 p. m. today.

The 24-year-old ex-OSR convict embraced the Catholic faith about three weeks ago. Rev. C. V. Lucier, Catholic chaplain at the Ohio penitentiary, will accompany him to the execution chamber.

Daniels received the last rites of the Catholic church this morning from Rev. Lucier.

Daniels showed a complete about-face from his early bragging attitude when he refused to see news men.

Pen Warden R. W. Alvis said the young killer offered no explanation for his decision. However, Alvis commented that Daniels had just left the penitentiary chapel and said:

"Those rites might have had something to do with it."

The warden said only members of the Daniels family would be allowed to see the condemned man this afternoon. He said he had no idea if any family members would appear, because they were not required to give prior notice of their intention to visit the prison.

The execution is expected to draw many newsmen and law enforcement officers from the entire state. Detective William Colby of the Mansfield police force said he is planning to attend. Covering the execution for the News-Journal will be Malcolm Hartley, Sunday editor, and Don Miller, telegraph editor.

A last minute appeal to the Ohio Supreme court for a delay in the execution, only thing that could save Daniels now, is not expected. A writ of habeas corpus could delay the execution for two weeks or longer.

Daniels' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Daniels of Columbus, who lost their plea for clemency before the State Pardon and Parole board on Dec. 21, will be allowed to see him up to the time he prepares to eat his last meal in death row, Warden Alvis said.

PAL SLAIN

Daniels is the surviving member of a two-man murder team which staged a 14-day killing spree across Ohio in July. His companion, John C. West, also an OSR parolee, was killed in a gun duel with police at a road block near Van Wert two days after the nude and bullet-riddled bodies of the Niebels were found in the cornfield.

His parents' plea for clemency for their son on the basis that he had been mentally defective since childhood failed to convince the court at Daniels' Richland county trial.

Daniels was convicted of shooting the Reformatory farm superintendent, John Niebel, 50, his wife, Nolana, 52, and daughter, Phyllis, 20, after forcing them from their home shortly after midnight.

West and Daniels also were blamed by authorities for killing

Proposal Welcomed

LONDON —(INS)— An aroused Asia today showed marked enthusiasm for Indian Premier Pandit Nehru's summoning of an Asiatic conference on the Dutch-Indonesian dispute.

Advices reaching London reveal that already five nations—Burma, Egypt, Syria, Australia and China—are anxious to attend the proposed New Delhi meeting, which Nehru says will be called in the near future.

Further evidence of mounting Asiatic indignation over the renewed warfare in Java and Sumatra was seen in a Rangoon dispatch which reported that Ex-Premier Ba Maw was forming a volunteer brigade to fight in Indonesia.

Nehru's move—not totally unexpected in that the Indian leader was among the first to decry the Netherlands offensive — has naturally evoked mixed reactions from the two disputants in the resource-rich East Indies.

Indonesian Republicans have hailed the conference as "most encouraging." Semi-official Dutch spokesmen have expressed astonishment over what they feel is intervention in "the internal affairs of another country.

In any case, the initial reaction to Nehru's appeal throughout the middle and far east has generally been favorable.

Reports to London show these reactions in different Asiatic capitals:

IDEA WELCOMED

Rangoon, Burma: The government has "welcomed" Nehru's proposal and will nominate a representative.

Cairo, Egypt: Political quarters have definitely approved of India's initiative.

Nanking, China, China — According to reliable sources—is planning to send a representative to the New Delhi meeting.

Sydney, Australia: An unofficial but informed source said Australia will most likely attend the meeting.

Karachi, Pakistan: The Pakistani premier has received the invitation but would say only that it is "under consideration."

War Looms For Britain

TEL AVIV — (INS) — An Israeli spokesman charged today that Britain is now an open ally of the Arabs in their war against the Jews.

He said that what Winston Churchill described in the House of Commons as a "sulky boycott" of Israel by Britain is now being developed into a major war.

Israeli newspapers reported that British planes are making reconnaissance flights over the southern sector of Palestine while British commando and armored units have been ordered to stand by in the Suez canal poised to cross the Israeli frontier.

Tension in official Israeli circles heightened with reports from London that British Foreign Secretary Bevin has informed the United States it may act directly in the Arab-Jewish war in support of the Arabs.

Two Killed In Shooting Fray

CINCINNATI. — (AP) — A west end cafe shooting ended in the death of two men, one a bystander, and the wounding of a woman yesterday. Police identified the dead as John Wilson, 43, and Joe Graham, 30.

The woman, Mrs. Anna Maud Warner, 30, wife of the cafe's owner, was shot in the left arm.

Police said Wilson shot at Ernest Warner, 40, the owner after he had been ejected from the cafe. Graham, standing near Warner, was hit in the left side. Warner then fatally wounded Wilson, police said.

LOSE HOPE FOR 30

MIAMI, Fla. — (U.P.) — Search officials today gave up hope for 30 persons aboard a chartered DC-3 airliner which presumably fell into the sea somewhere near Miami last week.

House Raps Univis CIO Strikers

Group Charges UEW Violence Paralleled Red Tactics

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—A House labor subcommittee charged today that strike violence at the Univis Lens company, Dayton, O., last August ran "parallel" to communist tactics to create "civil strife" in other countries.

The charge was made in one of a number of final reports filed with the House labor committee of the 80th Congress. The strike against the Univis plant was called by Local 768 of the CIO United Electrical Workers.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R.-Mich.) said the strike and the strike violence were "due to the influence and the activities of the international officers of the UE-CIO." The report noted that the union's officers have refused to sign the non-communist affidavits required by the Taft-Hartley Act.

Other reports issued by House labor subcommittees:

1. A report by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Max Schwabe (R-Mo.) charging that "union busting" tactics by employers led to communist domination of the CIO Fur Workers union. That organization is headed by Ben Gold, self-admitted communist party member.

2. A report by Hoffman, acting as a one-man subcommittee, charging that the Dec. 1 raid on the Shakespeare plant at Kalamazoo, Mich., was staged because a local of the CIO Steel Workers union was losing a strike.

2. A report by Rep. Wint Smith (R.-Kan.) also acting as a one-man subcommittee, recommending that "incentive-wage" plans be encouraged throughout the nation.

The report on the Univis strike said there was "more or less" violence in front of the plant during the early days of the walkout which began last May 4. But violence increased after a "back to work" movement began July 26, it said.

The situation reached a point where order was restored only when 1,500 troops of the state militia were mobilized on Aug. 3, the report said. The plant is now operating without a union contract of any kind.

"The over-all cost of the strike —and it was considerable—will, in the end, be paid by the taxpayers of Dayton and the state of Ohio," the report said. "Employes lost thousands of dollars in wages."

Held In Slaying

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Frederick Goens, 36-year-old station attendant, who yesterday signed a statement that he shot and killed ex-bartender Eddie Chowning, also 36, was scheduled for arraignment today on a charge of murder.

Teachers, Pupils Pay Tribute To Memory of 'Pop' Elias

By NITA BRANSON

The hub-bub of 1,200 voices belonging to Senior high students who crowded into the auditorium at 11 a. m. today was suddenly stilled as Rev. Floyd Million spoke the opening words in tribute to the late Mathias K. Elias, for 17 years manager of athletic equipment at the high school.

The students were quiet in tribute to the man who had been their friend and advisor and whom they had loved and respected.

It was a sober faced group of students, many of them with bowed heads, who listened to the half dozen tributes paid "Pop" Elias, as he was known at Senior high.

Million told of having dined with "Pop" many times in the teachers' cafeteria.

"You get to know a man when you're eating with him," he said. "You get to appreciate, understand and sympathize with a man when you sit across the table from him. You have a spiritual fellowship as well as a physical. Mr. Elias had his faults, he made mistakes as we all do, but he believed in and trusted the Lord of Righteousness."

Rev. Million read from the passage in Timothy where Paul, nearing the end, says 'I have fought a good fight."

He was followed by George Middlebrook, who spoke of "Pop" Elias's friendliness, and how he had treated each boy and girl as if they were his own son and daughter.

"We will miss his happy face," Middlebrook said.

Harry Osbun spoke next.

"To me Mr. Elias was a great man. His greatness was not the boisterous kind but the kind you feel inside. "Pop" lived by the golden rule. He liked everybody and everybody liked him."

George Sherman, faculty member, speaking in behalf of the teachers at Senior high, recalled his willingness to give of his many experiences to others.

"When we asked him for advice, he had what you needed. And he was loyal, both to his school and the students and teachers. He used to say, 'There's always someone to take your place,' but to me there will never be anyone to take Mr. Elias's place."

Coach Augie Morningstar, who perhaps had closer association with "Pop" Elias than any other teacher, added his tribute to the others.

"Words will never express our great loss. 'Pop' saw 10,000 students come and go during his years here. Many of them wrote to him from college and he always answered. He never failed to give a kind word."

Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Jean A. Robinson with Martha Shiplet at the piano. Rev. Million gave the benediction.

COUPLE EXCHANGE VOWS IN CHURCH RITE FRIDAY

Candlelight Service Solemnized for Kay Torrence And Harry Gurney in St. Gertrude's Church.

MISS KAY LEE TORRENCE and Robert Harry Gurney exchanged nuptial vows Friday at 4:30 p. m. in St. Gertrude's church, Madeira, O. The Rev. Paul E. Rogers read the ceremony before an altar banked with huckleberry and plumosa fern. Two altar vases of white pompons and gladioli and seven branch candelabra lighted the scene.

Miss Torrence, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Darl Torrence, 803 Forest avenue, Milford, Ohio, and Mr. Gurney, 80 Stewart avenue, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Gurney.

Mrs. Joseph Osterberger presided at the organ and the bride's mother was the soloist for the ceremony.

Miss Torrence entered the church at the arm of her father. The bridal party advanced to the altar along a candelit aisle. The pew candles were tied with long white ribbons. Miss Torrence wore a white velvet gown with a drop shoulder effect. The sheer net yoke had a round neckline. The full skirt fell into a three yard train. The net veil was held in place by a Juliet pearl cap. The only jewelry worn by the bride was a three strand pearl necklace, gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Torrence carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. John Sears, cousin of the bride, Columbus, served as matron of honor. She wore a gown of American beauty velvet corresponding to the brides. Miss Kathryn Spahr, friend of the bride of Milford, was the bridesmaid, attired in a hyacinth blue velvet. The flower girl was Karen O'Conner, cousin of the bride of Huntington, West Virginia. She wore a white velvet dress. The attendants carried cascade bouquets of fuchsia carnations, yellow roses and blue pompons. They all had head bands matching their bouquets.

The bride's mother chose a cocoa crepe dinner dress with brown accessories for her daughter's wedding. She wore a corsage of yellow roses.

James Knudsen, close friend of the bridegroom, Chicago, Illinois, served as best man.

Harold W. Taylor, friend of the couple from Milford, served as head usher. Carl Torrence, uncle of the bride, Covington, Kentucky, Robert Philhower, friend from Milford, John Weigele, friend from Ft. Wayne, Indiana, and John Hover, cousin of the bride from Cincinnati, escorted the guests to their pews.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for 130 guests was held at the bride's home. The home was decorated with vases of gladioli, and pompons and several candelabra.

For her honeymoon to Chicago, the new Mrs. Gurney wore a black wool suit with white accessories topped with a green wool fur trimmed coat.

After January 17 the couple will be at home at 513 Main street, Milford

The bride graduated from Milford high school and Campbell's Business school, Cincinnati. Mr. Gurney is a graduate of St. Peter's high school. He is employed as a salesman with the Cincinnati branch of the Renard Linoleum and Rug company.

Out-of-town guests present at the wedding were from Mansfield, Ft. Wayne, Indiana, Columbus and Springfield.

2 Holmes Firms Pay Cash Bonus

Rubber, Flxible Employes Benefit

MILLERSBURG — Two industrial firms of Holmes county distributed cash bonuses to their employes last week.

The Rice-Chadwick Rubber company of Killbuck rewarded 60 employes with bonuses ranging from 10 to 20 per cent of their yearly earnings. In July, 1948, another bonus was paid by this company. These bonuses, combined, represented 10 to 20 per cent of the employes' yearly earnings and amounted to more than $12,000.

This firm which began operations three years ago, paid one bonus to its employes the first year, and paid two bonuses each year since then.

The special products division of the Flxible company, Millersburg, distributed cash bonuses to approximately 100 employes last week. Each received a cash bonus equivalent to the purchase price of a $25 saving bond, plus one dollr for each year of service. Those with less than a year of service received a prorated share.

Winners Named At Loudonville

LOUDONVILLE — The Garden club has announced the winners of the general outside lighting for homes and grounds and for doorways, which the club sponsored for Christmas decorations.

The home of Kenneth Young, took first place, with a prize of $7.50, and Bob Kick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kick took second with a $5.00 prize.

In the doorway portion first prize went to Sue and Mary Schneider, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Schneider, $7.50; and $5.00 second prize went to Jim Arnholt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Olin Arnholt.

15 Traffic Deaths Listed In Crawford

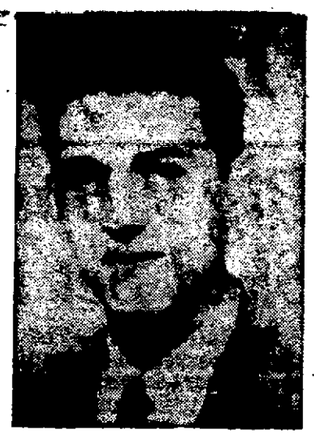
BUCYRUS—At least 15 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents during 1948 in Crawford county, Sheriff Ralph Schreck reported today.

The sheriff said his office investigated 102 traffic accidents during the year. Six fatalities were recorded in these accidents, while the state highway patrol investigated seven additional wrecks. Two persons also were killed in Bucyrus traffic mishaps.

First '49 Baby

BUCYRUS — Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bishop, Bucyrus, R. D. 3, are the parents of what is believed to be the first baby born in Bucyrus in 1949. The baby, a daughter, was born in Bucyrus City hospital at 10:46 a. m. Saturday. Hospital attaches said she weighed six pounds and five ounces at birth.

Rita Louise Howell



John Charles Phillips

WIN NATIONAL HONORS—Two of Ohio's state winners in 1948 received national honors for superior records of achievement in their respective 4-H club awards programs. Rita Louise Howell, 16, of Defiance, National 4-H Health Improvement winner, has done much to raise the health standards of her community. John Charles Phillips, 18, of Wilkesville, National 4-H Soil Conservation winner, helped establish a soil conservation program on the home farm according to recommendations made by the State college.

Nine Crawford Officials Start Terms; Get Raises

BUCYRUS — Nine Crawford county officials, elected in the November elections, began their new terms here today. All but one of the nine were incumbents and all nine will receive salary increases as provided by the 1947-48 session of the state legislature, All are Democrats.

The officials were sworn in this morning in ceremonies held in Common Pleas court room with Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl administering the oath of office.

Re-elected officials included Commissioner Walter Sargel, Galion, Recorder Oliver Hartman of near Tiro, Pose cutor Leo J. Ccanlon of Crestline, Engineer Howard Horner of near Crestline, Sheriff Ralph Schreck, formerly of Galion, Pobate Judge Constance R. Keller, Judge Ahl and Clerk of Courts Joe Royer, all of Bucyrus.

The lone newcomer in the courthouse is Roy Eichorn, Whetstone township farmer, who succeeds Lawrence Heinlen as a commissioner.

The new term of Mrs. Mae L. Kloepfer, who was re-elected treasurer, will not begin until next Sept. 5. County Auditor Frederick Klein and Commissioner, Earl Leonard, both Bucyrus, still have two years of their terms to go. They are the county's only Republican officials.

Biggest salary increase goes to Probate Judge Keller, whose new annual salary will be $5,067.13 compared with old rate of $3,725. Term of her office also has been raised from four to six years. Judge Ahl will receive $5,067.13 annually for the next six years, his salary having been raised $1,000. State law provides that the probate-juvenile judge may not receive a higher salary than the Common Pleas Judge.

Increases received by other officials include; commissioners from $1,850 to $2,405; recorder, from $2,127 to $2,405; prosecutor from $2,242.50 to $2,435; engineer from $3,252 to $4,225; clerk of courts from $2,667.50 to $3,152.50; sheriff from $2,250 to $2,435.

The salary of Treasurer Kloepfer will be raised from $2,750 to $3,575 when she begins her new term in September. The salary of Auditor Klein will remain at $2,750 but when a new term is started in the auditor's office the salary will be $3,400.

Incumbent Commissioner Leonard also will receive no increase.

Mr. Vernon Concern Seeks $270 Judgment

MILLERSBURG — The Lamb Glass company of Mt. Vernon has filed a judgment in Holmes county court against John S. Snyder, jr., head of the Killbuck Dairy, for the sum of $270.18 plus six per cent interest from September, 1947.

The claimant states that this amount is owing for merchandise sold ond delivered to the plaintiff.

Scouts Rewarded At Loudonville

LOUDONVILLE—At the Boy Scout court of honor last week, three boys were advanced to second class rank, and two others were awarded merit badges. This was the first court of honor held by the Loudonville troop for two years.

Second class badges were presented to Larry Carpenter, Jim Gorrell and Rodger Maurer. Jim Eberhardt and Richard Peoples got merit badges for swimming and life saving. Eberhart also was invested as a senior patrol leader.

Floyd Dent, of Mansfield was present and gave a talk. The scouts held a gift exchange and awarded gifts to the scout leaders, Cal Sipes and John Solomon.

4 New Heads, 4 Repeaters Start Duties In Ashland

ASHLAND—Four new Ashland county officials assume their new duties today while four others begin new terms in offices to which they were re-elected.

Sheriff M. F. Rickenbrod, former deputy under an earlier regime, took over his duties at midnight as replacement for H. R. Myers who had not sought a new term. Rickenbrod has appointed Ralph E. Rogers, World War II veteran, as deputy and Mrs. Lucile Berry as office deputy.

Kenneth J. Nordstrom, one of Ashland's newer attorneys, begins his first term as county prosecutor while Thomas J. Stence, former county commissioner, returns to that board and Dr. H. M. Gunn begins his first term as Ashland county coroner.

Nordstrom has announced reappointment of Donald Fetzer as assistant prosecutor, a position Fetzer has held for the past two years under the retiring prosecutor, C. W. Chorpening.

Starting new terms are George Marble as clerk of courts, Don Spreng as county commissioner, E. M. Kerr as county engineer and Art Tucker as county recorder.

On Atlantic Duty

GALION—Bill F. Gross, fireman apprentice, USN, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gross of 620 Crew avenue, is serving aboard the seaplane tender USS Valcour with the Atlantic Fleet. He enlisted on June 28, and received his recruit training at Great Lakes, Ill. Before enlisting he attended Mansfield senior high school.

Favors Sewer Rental Charge

ASHLAND — F. H. Waring, chief engineer of the Ohio Health department, recommends a sewer rental charge for Ashland as a means of financing operation and maintenance of sewers and treatment plants in the future.

The engineer also recommends employment of consulting engineers to make a survey of the present sewage treatment facilities in Ashland.

The recommendations were made to the city following a survey by the state engineer of the present plant which is urgently in need of expansion according to Howard Maxheimer, city engineer.

Immediate repairs are needed at the present plant, the state engineer declares in his report, plus expansion of the plant to meet the growing needs of the city. He recommends a sewer rental charge as the most equitable method of financing maintenance of the plant.

Taylor New Ashland Library Board Head

ASHLAND — Newly elected chairmen of the Ashland public library board is E. H. Taylor who succeeds Charles Sharrock as head of the board.

Dr. L. E. Pete was elected vice chairman; Charles Spies, secretary and Mrs. Leo Heffelfinger was reappointed clerk-treasurer.

Sewage, Garbage Collection Rates Increased In Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — Increased sewage and garbage removal rates became effective here Saturday.

The quarterly rate for the removal of garbage and rubbish from private homes was increased from $1.50 to $2 with the monthly rate set at 75 cents.

The quarterly rate on sewage was increased from $1 to $2 for usage of 1,200 cubic feet.

Effective April 1, Bucyrians will pay more for water when the rate will be increased from the present $3.75 quarterly minimum to $5.25. Commercial water rates also will be increased.

The increased rates were voted by city council in November.

PARK TILING COMPLETED

LOUDONVILLE—The Riverside park tiling project is completed with the exception of a back water trap which is delayed by inability to get materials. The job was done by the Getz company, Baltic contractors, and drains the park even when the ground is frozen.

Dave Templeton Signs to Play Pro Football

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — That little rascal 1949 indicated today that his reign may be a rough one on the "name" athletes.

The old lady who lived in a shoe didn't have half as much trouble as the kid gave the supposed standouts of the gridiron on his very first day in the saddle.

Take the Rose Bowl game, for instance. The big guns were Cal's Jackie Jensen and Northwestern's Frank Aschenbrenner and Art Murakowski. They all did yeoman work and Murakowski's touchdown plunge provoked a greater controversy than a second guessing gin rummy partner.

But it was Frank Brunk, Jensen's understudy, who set up California's last touchdown. And it was unknown Ed Tunnicliff who went 43 yards for Northwestern's touchdown with less than two minutes remaining to give the Wildcats the game, 20 to 14.

DOWN AT NEW ORLEANS, Sugar Bowl customers expected Charley (Choo Choo) Justice to have a clear track against Oklahoma. The North Carolina express was derailed and the plaudits went to Myrle Greathouse. He scooted 72 yards with a pass interception, breaking up the Tarheel opening threat and setting up Oklahoma's first score.

That broke North Carolina's back. And Greathouse's bone-cracking defensive play fractured the rest of them, as Oklahoma won, 14-6.

There were more stars in the East-West Shrine game than there are in Hollywood. Yet it was Bob Dean, of Cornell, little known outside the East, whose two extra points gave the East a 14-12 win.

Johnny Rauch, the hottest thing at Georgia since Gone With the Wind, loomed as the big man in the Orange Bowl. Johnny was cooler than 10 below zero as he had two passes intercepted for touchdowns and Texas waltzed off with a 41-28 decision. Randy Clay (ever heard of him?) got 17 points for the stampeding Longhorns, including the winning and clinching touchdowns.

★

ALL YOU HEARD from the Gator Bowl were raves about Clemson's Bobby Gage and Missouri's Bus Entsminger. Yet a lad named Jack Miller stole the headlines by calmly booting an angled 23-yard field goal which gave Clemson the marbles, 24 to 23, in a movie thriller.

The Dixie Bowl's "battle of the Baptists" looked like a ready made spot for Wake Forest's Bill Gregus. But Wake Forest and Gregus wound up with the D.T.'s (dearth of touchdowns) as Georgie Sims copped the raves in a 20 to 7 Baylor triumph.

Nevada's Stan Heath and Villanova's Ralph Pasquariello were billed as headliners in the Harbor Bowl. The star was the house physician as Heath wandered off in the second quarter with cracked ribs; Fullback Sherm Howard was scalped, Villanova's Bob Polidor also came off with rib fractures and Halfback Pete D'Alonzo racked up two touchdowns in a 27-7 Villanova fistic triumph.

★

SECOND STRINGER Don Ross hurled three touchdown passes to wind up as Occidental's hero in a 21-20 conquest of the Colorado Aggies, while a lad named Dick Steere kicked the two points on a muddy field which brought Drake in ahead of Arizona, 14-13, in the Salad Bowl.

Oaky Doak Walker and Kyle (Killer) Rote, the SMU sparkplugs, and West Virginia's Jimmy Walthal were about the only expected heroes who came through on schedule. Walker and Rote did everything but sell programs in routing Oregon, 21-13, in the Cotton Bowl, and Walthal boosted West Virginia to a 21-12 Sun Bowl conquest of Texas Mines.

—It was a poor percentage on the whole for the stars. And just think—they have 362 more days of 1949 in front of them!

Mansfielder To Play For Brownie 11

Dave Templeton, former Senior high football and track star, has signed a contract to play professional football with the Cleveland Browns in the All-America conference.

Bill Edwards, Brownie line coach, reported signing Templeton in San Francisco New Year's day, after the Ohio State player helped the East defeat the West, 14 to 12, in the annual Shrine grid contest. The 27-year-old star captained the OSU team in 1948 and in '47 was named the Bucks' "most valuable player."

TAKES ALL JOBS

While at Ohio State, Templeton tried all positions except tackle and center before settling down at guard. At the latter post, the 220-pound ace won all-Big 9 and all-America mention.

Always a defensive standout at State, Templeton seemed to be at his best against Michigan. In 1947, he was named the country's "lineman of the week" for his work against the Wolverines, and duplicated last fall.

The Browns had drafted Templeton last year, but he passed up the chance to play with the All-America champs because he wanted to use his final year of college eligibility. Templeton's salary was not announced.

HALF AND GUARD

Templeton's all-around grid usefulness started at Senior high in 1939. Under Coach Paul Snyder, Big Dave was a halfback and signal caller on offense and performed at defensive guard. He tossed the discus on the track team.

Then at Ohio State Templeton quarterbacked the undefeated frosh squad in 1942.

★

Templeton today joined a group of Shrine game stars who were scheduled to fly to Hawaii for two more games this month. Three members of the East squad joined the Westerners in the jaunt.

Besides Templeton, Ev Faunce, Minnesota back, and Phil O'Reilly, Purdue tackle, decided to make the trip.

EAST DOWNS WEST—Playing in heavy going at San Francisco, Joe Sullivan of Dartmouth (left) is tackled by one of his "West" adversaries in the 24th annual Shrine charity football game at Kezar stadium. Mud-smeared jerseys makes identification difficult, but coming into the play are Odell Stautzenberger (67) of Texas Aggies, and Dave Templeton (65) of Ohio State. The East nosed out the West by a margin of two points after touchdown, winning 14 to 12 Saturday.—(International)

Grade School Cagers Begin

Another phase of the expanded Mansfield grade school athletic program was scheduled to open this afternoon.

Twenty teams will represent the 10 elementary schools in basketball, Director Harry Mehock announced today. Each school will have a reserve as well as a varsity squad. Games will be played Mondays and Thursdays.

Today at 4 p. m. in the southern division, Prospect was scheduled against Brinkerhoff at Johnny Appleseed and Carpenter was slated at Hedges. Northern division contests will be played at John Simpson and Rebecca Grubaugh.

Track Practice Set For Bengals

First meeting of Senior high's indoor track candidates has been called for tomorrow afternoon at 3:15 a the high school.

Coach Harry Mehock expects to have 40 youngsters out for track and has scheduled the first practice for Wednesday. Mehock hopes to line up indoor meets with Cleveland Rhodes and Columbus East. The Tygers broke even last winter in a pair of meets with Ashland.

Official sanction for the 18th Mansfield Relays April 16 was received today from the National Federation of High School Athletic associations.

Cincinnati, Akron Court Teams Put Records on Line

By JIM DAILEY

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Ohio's two major undefeated college basketball teams—Cincinnati and Akron—lay it on the line this week as cage action picks up speed after the holidays with no less than 30 games scheduled.

Both Akron's Zippers and Cincinnati's Bearcats gained stature nationally over the week end as they trounced leading out-of-state teams.

The Bearcats—one of the nation's leading offensive teams with a better-than-70 point average per game—poured it on West Virginia, 72-62. Going into the game a slight underdog because the highly-touted Mountaineers were ranked13th in the national last week, Cincinnati showed absolutely no respect as it ran up a 20-point advantage at half-time.

TAKE ON RESERVE

Next Saturday the Bearcats take on a power-packed and dangerous band of Western Reserve cagers from Cleveland, who will be out to puncture that Cincinnati offensive bubble with a well-set-up defense.

If anything, Akron's task the coming week was even more titanic. The Zippers Wednesday must take a Youngstown gang on the rebound from a 67-59 loss at the hands of Kent State in their own tournament last week, and then travel over to the prairie-like Cleveland arena to play John Carroll Friday.

The Zippers during the week-end pounded Texas A. & M. into the dust at Akron, 75 to 67.

LEADING GAME

As fine a game as you'll see in the state all week will be on tap when Bowling Green visits Kent State Wednesday. Both, though defeated, have power to spare. The Beegees set a modern offensive record of 87 points at Madison Square Garden earlier this season and Kent State just copped the fast Youngstown tourney.

In other top games Western Reserve travels to Iowa and Ashland entertains Albion tonight, Xavier goes to Loyola of Baltimore tomorrow night and from there to Seton Hall the following night, and Bowling Green plays in the other half of the Akron-John Carroll doubleheader at the Cleveland arena Friday night.

Tonight Wooster visits Akron Goodyear, and tomorrow night Ohio U. is a Muskingum, Baldwin-Wallace meets John Carroll at the Cleveland arena, and Manchester of Indiana is at Dayton.

Wednesday Mt. Union is at Western Reserve. Thursday Defiance is at Otterbein, Ohio Wesleyan at Muskingum, and Wilberforce U. at the Chillicothe branch of Ohio U.

Friday Western Reserve is at Ohio U., Centre at Wilmington, and Ohio Northern at Heidelberg.

And Saturday, Oberlin is at Otterbein. Wooster at Ohio Wesleyan, Western Michigan at Miami, Cedarville at Marietta, Bluffton plays its Alumni. Heidelberg is at Findlay, Denison at Wittenberg, Kent State at Buffalo State, Rio Grande at Ashland, and Fenn at Hiram.

French Star Battles Steve Friday Night

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK — (INS) — Homegrown prizefighters are so scarce and undependable these days that the buildup of Robert Villemain, of France can lead to an all-French battle for the world middleweight championship.

Villemain will make his first start in this country Friday night against Steve Belloise, veteran New York thumper, at Madison Square Garden.

Villemain needs to win only two or three bouts decisively to qualify for a crack at Marcel Cerdan, the Frenchman who knocked Tony Zale loose from the 160-pound title last summer.

The bout Friday night shapes up on paper as a real old-fashioned brawl, unless Villemain's advance notices are out of proportion to his real ability.

SLAM-BANG STYLE

In workouts he has looked good, with a slam-bang, free-wheeling style, indicating that he can fight all night, barring a whack on the whiskers.

Belloise will give him a good test, and possibly a good beating to boot. Villemain has a record of only 34 professional fights, of which he has won 33 and boxed a draw in the other, contrasted with Belloise 98 starts against the best in this country with varying success.

Where Villemain has scored only eight knockouts, Belloise has stiffened 42 of his opponents for almost a .500 batting average.

This could be another case of a European fighter coming over and finding our second raters simply too tough, with a resultant deflation of the ballyhoo.

Miami's Doris Hart Wins Aussie Crown

SYDNEY, Australia — (AP) — America's Doris Hart is raking in the Australian tennis titles and attendant silverware.

The Miss from Miami, Fla., today defeated Australian champion Nancye Bolton, 6-4, 8-6, to take the southern Australian women's championship.

Japan's Ball Players Need Elbow Room

TOKYO — (INS) — Baseball's biggest problem in Japan is elbow room.

In the post-war baseball boom Japanese are pushing one another out of the way to get a chance to play the game.

There's not much room to shag flies in a rocky, mountainous country no larger than California—a country where 80,000,000 people must live.

But the Japanese are doing the best they can. It's not unusual to see four ball games going on at one time on a single field. Home plates are put down in each of the four corners and the outfielders of one games stand back to back with the infielders of another.

SANDLOTS CROWDED

Every possible sandlot or vacant space is crowded with ball players from morning to night. Every factory has at least one team. Some have many more.

Yomiuri, the Tokyo newspaper that sponsors the professional "Giants" ball team, has 20 other teams in an employes league.

The Japanese sports writers boast that more people are playing baseball today in Japan than in the United States and they are undoubtedly correct.

Most of Japan's sandlot baseball is played with a sponge rubber ball about the size of the regulation ball. This cuts down on the need for equipment such as gloves and mitts and permits players to crowd together without too many cracked heads.

On clear days there are always hundreds in the outer grounds of Hirohito's imperial palace playing catch or pick-up games.

Baseball definitely has supplanted "sumo" — wrestling—as the national pastime.

Cleveland Barons Gain On Second

(By International News Service)

Cleveland's hockey Barons were a half-step behind the second-place Pittsburgh Hornets today in the Western division race of the American Hockey league.

Cleveland, off to a good start in the new year, made it two in a row by shutting out the Ramblers, 4-0, last night at New Haven.

Goalie Johnnie Bower hung up his second whitewash in nine days as his teammates bagged three unassisted goals following Bryan Hextall's opening tally.

Big 9 Basketball Sked Set to Open

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Big Nine championship campaign in basketball begins this week and the scrappiest title race in years looms.

During preliminary sniping, four exceptionally powerful outfits have emerged as contenders. They are Minnesota, only undefeated Big Nine team with eight victories, Illinois (8-1), Michigan (7-1) and Ohio State (5-1). These four stand out after compiling excellent records against good opposition.

Indiana (7-1) and Purdue (6-2) also fit into the list of contenders. Iowa, which has a 6-1 record against mediocre foes, Wisconsin (5-3) and Northwestern (2-4) are capable of pulling upsets anywhere along the line.

ILLINI VS. BADGERS

The title chase opens at Champaign, Ill., tonight with the Illini tangling with Wisconsin. The game marks the sixth time since 1942 these two teams have inaugurated conference basketball warfare. Last year at Madison, Wis., highly favored Illinois faced the Badgers with an undefeated preliminary record. Underdog Wisconsin won 52-47.

The Illini, whose only setback was to De Paul—a loss later avenged when the teams met in Champaign—again will be greatly favored over Wisconsin tonight. Of Illinois' nine games to date, seven have been at home—all ending in victories as the Illini averaged 72.3 points.

Illinois and Wisconsin have played 66 games in the past and the rivalry has been so even that each school has 33 victories.

The championship struggle really gets hot Saturday when four games are booked. Te program is topped by Michigan opening its title defense at Minnesota. Illinois is at Indiana, Northwestern at Ohio State and Purdue at Iowa.

NOT IN LEAGUE

Non-conference skirmishing continues tonight with Western Reserve at Iowa, Marquette at Indiana, Northwestern at Missouri and Loyola of Chicago at Purdue.

Creighton invades Wisconsin Saturday.

The Big Nine individuad scoring race shapes up as a two-man affair between Ohio State's Dick Schnittker and Minnesota's 6-foot 9 inch center, Jim McIntyre. Schnittker captured the lead last week with a 21.6 point average in six games while McIntyre dropped to 19.5 in eight. Among the top ten scorers, only Ohio State, Minnesota and Illinois each have two representatives.

Whitey Skoog of Minnesota is fifth with a 15 point average; Bob Donham of Ohio State is sixth with 13.6; Dike Eddleman of Illinois is third with 16.1 and his teammate, Bill Erickson, is 10th with 12.1.

Golfdom's Great To Have Own Hall Of Fame Shortly

CHICAGO—(UP)—The golfers' dream of a hall of fame to rival baseball's Cooperstown Memorial has become a reality and will be dedicated within the next few months, the Golf Writer's Association of America announced today.

Four fairway greats—Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Frances Ouimet—will be the first to be honored with placques in the hall.

Charles Bartlett, secretary of the Writer's association, said the hall will be housed in the Evans Caddy Scholar House in suburban Evanston.

Bartlett said the idea of a hall of fame for golfdom's great was suggested first in 1940 but lapsed during the war, although the writers approved the first four members.

Qualifying Opens

LOS ANGELES —(AP)—Qualifying rounds got under way today for the $15,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament, which starts Friday over the tricky Riviera country club course.

Colony Alleys Remains Tied For Loop Lead

Colony Bowling Alleys of Mansfield remained in a tie for first place in the Central Ohio Ladies' league yesterday after winning two of three games from Coshocton Palaces on the Newark alleys.

Newark Housing corporation also copped two of three from Delaware Kingmans to hold onto its share of the lead. Each team has won 16 and lost eight to hold a two-game bulge over Mt. Vernon Grammac Recreation. The Mt. Vernon quintet yesterday topped Lancaster Chryslers in only one game.

Roberts Jewelers of Zanesville took three straight from Ashland Brad and Chuck's to complete the program.

SCHUSTER TOPS

Colony had a team score of 720-797-700—2217, with Donna Schuster topping the individuals with 131-195-166—492. Other Mansfield scores were: Helen Wilhelm, 467; Sue Humphrey, 435; Dorothy McDevitt, 426, and Billie Cleckner, 397.

Zanesville was the team leader with 2,435, while Newark's Lucille Hartman had 188-198-178—564. Rebecca Smith, Zanesville, had 205-159-165 — 529, and Pauline Gross, Coshocton, 142-208-176—526.

★

Emma Phaler, secretary of the WIBC, attended yesterday's league session. She gave the girls information on the national tournament, which is scheduled in Columbus this spring.

★

Secretaries easily featured league play in the Sons of Herman circuit at the Colony lanes yesterday. Four of the league's top bowlers rolled with that quintet. Mike Richards was the leader with 152-156-211—529, Steve Streitmater had 526, Carl Stehle 516, and Lloyd Pugh, 515.

Lead in the entire league went to Jake Streitmater with 176-177-245—598, while Jake Gaubatz jr. came home with a 156-181-190—527. Lou Herf had a 517 and R. Page, 521.

Herf had a 213 and Stehle, 206. Secretaries had a team score of 2,560.

Madison 5 Battles Pair This Week

Mansfield Madison is scheduled to play a pair of basketball games this week, going to Willard tomorrow and entertaining Wapakoneta Blume high Friday night.

The unpredictable Rams have won three of four games against high school competition. During the holidays, Coach Blaine Dowler's crew lost to an alumni squad 42 to 19.

IDLE TWO WEEKS

Willard will be returning to activity after a two-week lapse. Before the holidays, Willard broke even in a pair of games. The teams have one common opponent in Shelby. Madison defeated the Whippets, 45 to 38 while Willard lost to the same team, 30 to 49.

Last year, Madison's district Class A champions defeated Willard two times, winning the first game, 37 to 21 and the second, 40 to 34.

The Rams blasted Wapak, 53 to 28, in 1948.

Verbal Battle Rages About TD

PASADENA, Calif. —(AP)— It's been chilly in these parts, but the arguments over Art Murakowski's touchdown for Northwestern in the Rose Bowl are warming up the whole landscape today.

These arguments are, of course, unofficial, but for the fans' hot stove there's fuel aplenty for a whole long winter; maybe many winters.

Officially, that score board still says Northwestern 20, California 14. That's the way it'll stay.

YES OR NO

The heated discussion centers around what fullback Murakowski did or didn't do, the newspaper pictures thereof, the telecast and what the fans saw, or thought they saw, especially California rooters.

Murakowski fumbled, and they'll argue from here to there on whether he fumbled an instant before or after he crossed the Cal goal line. The officials ruled it a touchdown on the ground he had possession of the ball crossing the final white line, then fumbled. That made the score 13 to 7 for Northwestern.

If the decision had been that Murakowski fumbled before crossing the line, the loose ball in the end zone by California's Will Lotter would have given the Bears the ball on their own 20-yard line.

Several newspaper pictures seem to indicate that Murakowski fumbled before he got to the goal line, but even some hotheads concede that camera angles are deceptive.

Here's what some of the officials say:

Referee Jimmy Cain: "Jay Berwanger (field judge) was in a position to see the play and he called Murakowski over the goal line for a touchdown. The rule is explicit on the point that when the ball passes on or over the goal line it is a touchdown. On his decision, which had to be right because he was where he could see, Murakowski had possession of the ball when he crossed the line."

Berwanger, former University of Chicago star, checked out of his hotel without commenting publicly.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Nine commissioner: "I saw him (Berwanger) give the touchdown signal immediately and emphatically, and he was straddling the goal line."

Coach Lynn Waldorf of California: "If the officials said he was over the goal line, that's good enough for me."

Coach Bob Veights of Northwestern: "Our boys are sure Art got the ball across—you only have to get the point of it over for a split second, you know."

Eagle Grid Sale Talk Just Rumor

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Talk about sale of the Philadelphia Eagles apparently not only is premature but perhaps just idle rumor.

That's the word from Charley Ewart, general manager of the National football league champions.

Ewart commenting on a report by Braven Dyer, Los Angeles columnist that the club has been sold to a Philadelphia syndicate, said yesterday the Eagles have not been sold and they may not change ownership at all.

Ohioans Collide In Akron Ring

AKRON —(INS)— Barberton's Rudy Zadell and welterweight Jimmy Sanders of Warren clash Wednesday night in a 12-round "grudge" battle at the Akron armory.

The meeting will be the second between the two. Sanders won a split decision in a close 10-rounder last year.

The 10-heat semi-final matches Fritzie Pruden of Paterson, N. J., against Bobby Williams of Philadelphia in another welterweight scrap.

Alabama Kid Gets Crack at Moore

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Alabama Kid goes up against the "third best light heavyweight in the world," Archie Moore, Jan. 10 in a Toledo 10-rounder.

The Kid whipped the socks off Big Boy Brown of Detroit in Columbus on New Year's day.

Alabama first was scheduled to meet Bob Satterfield of Chicago in Toledo, but Satterfield begged out on the basis of injuries received in training.

Leads Track Winners

Ralph Baldwin, of Lafayette, Ind., a 32-year-old veteran reinsman for the Saunders Mills Stable of Toledo, O., was the leading money-winning driver of 1948 on harness racing's Grand Circuit by taking $144,219 in major league sulky purses.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Police Help Slain Officer's Daughter, 13

The Mansfield Police Recreation club has sent $50 to the fund being raised for the daughter of William Gerek, a Barberton policeman who was slain by a bandit Christmas eve.

Police have linked Brownie Godlewski, the bandit who shot the officer to death, with the holdup of South Boulevards market Dec. 23. Godlewski was killed by Sgt. James Hinds, of the Barberton police force during the Barberton robbery.

Mansfield police said they do not customarily contribute to funds for policemen slain in other cities. The decision was made to contribute the money because of the connection between the two hold-ups.

The fund will go toward the education of the slain patrolman's 13-year-old daughter, Martha Gerek.

New York City has 157 banks and 94 insurance companies.

IT'S AN EXCITING MOMENT in the young life of Jackie Blewitt, 4, Newark, N. J., as he walks hesitantly to his mother's outstretched arms. Born without legs, he became a patient at the Newark Crippled Children's hospital, where he learned to use artificial limbs.—(International)

Victims' Condition Reported 'Good'

The three victims of the Dec. 31 traffic mishap which resulted in the death of one man, were reported in "fair" or "good" condition at Mansfield General hospital today.

Both Mrs. Anna May Crow, wife of Corliss Crow, who was killed in the mishap, and Arthur Collisse were in "good condition." Mrs. Lula Hoffman, who was riding with Crow and his wife, is in "fair" condition, the hospital said.

Cigaret Shoots Man!

Odd Events Prove Anything Can Happen

The year 1948 naturally meant different things to different people.

To Ed Taylor of Matewan, W. Va., for example, it will always stand out for the spectacular half-hour he spent with his head locked up cozily in a steam shovel.

James Drager of Beloit, Wis., will remember it as the year he was shot by a cigaret. And chances are Andrew Anderson, of Oakland, Calif., will never forget it because of the bathtub accident he had—not in the privacy of his home, but on a busy highway!

★

And if you think those are the only wacky things that happened in 1948, just read a little further into what the National Safety Council dug up in its annual quest for odd accidents.

In Jamestown, N. Y., lightning courteously rang the doorbell when it called at the home of Mrs. Roger W. Cramer. Mrs. Cramer answered the bell, found no one there, identified her departed visitor by the smoke it had left, and called the fire department.

In St. Louis, singer Edwin Steffe hastily clapped a wig on his head for his part in an outdoor municipal opera. His quick swoop trapped a bee beneath the wig. Critics agreed he gave an animated performance.

★

Way down in Brisbane, Australia, Lawrence Doorey was the traffic victim of a cockroach. Mr. Doorey spied the roach on the sidewalk and took a swipe at it with his boot. He missed and the roach fled into the street. Mr. Doorey pursued. As he bent over to take another swipe, a passing automobile whacked him from behind. The roach rambled on.

Stuart Bowie of Rochester, N. Y., eased his auto gently over a railroad crossing to make sure he didn't break two dozen eggs he was taking home. A freight engine struck his car and knocked it into the path of another locomotive on an adjoining track. Mr. Bowie crawled from the wreckage to find nothing broken—not even an egg!

Champion faller of the year was two-year-old Kenneth Liebman of New York City, who tumbled out of a sixth-floor window, landed in a hedge, slid to the ground and trotted off uninjured.

★

Kansas jackrabbits aren't going to like this, but a Nebraska jackrabbit leaped from the highway near Meadow Grove, crashed through the windshield of an auto, whizzed by the startled occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Duhachek, and banged into the rear window so hard the glass was shattered. Note of solace to Kansas rabbits: The Nebraska show-off couldn't take it, fellows. He fell dead on the rear seat of the car.

When Benjamin Quinland was admitted to a hospital in St. Louis, nurses noticed he lay uneasily in his bed. They couldn't blame him. As he had relaxed at home a short time before, a bedspring had snapped loose, pierced the mattress and stabbed Mr. Quinland in the middle of his nap.

Every athlete dreams of the day he'll be a red hot. Such a day came to cricket player Denis Plumb in Atherstone, England, this summer. A hard-hit ball struck a box of matches in his pocket. Pants afire, fielder Plumb valiantly completed the play and dashed from the game in a blaze of glory.

★

Potatoes are supposed to be good for you, but Mrs. Alfred Swauger, of Ravenna, O., isn't so sure. A sweet potato exploded as she took it out of the oven—and wham went the yam right in Mrs. Swauger's face.

In Marcinelle, Belgium, Miss Melle Boussurois was cleaning clothes with gasoline. Her cat, napping near a gas stove, got too near the burner and its fur caught fire. A leap and a yowl, and it landed smack in Miss Boussurois' bowl of gasoline. That was one night she didn't have to put the cat out. It went out on its own—jet-propelled.

But let's get back to Ed Taylor and the head-hunting steam shovel. As Mr. Taylor parked his car in Matewan, W. Va., the boom of a nearby clam shell power shovel swung around and knocked down a utility pole. A network of telephone wires fell on top of Mr. Taylor's car. As he stuck his head out to see what was going on, the clam shell banged down on top of the car, snapped its jaws and locked up Mr. Taylor's head and shoulders inside the bucket. It took half an hour to get him out, scratched and shocked but not seriously injured.

And if you are wondering how a cigaret can shoot a man, James Drager of Beloit, Wis., will tell you it's easy. Mr. Drager merely placed a lighted cigaret on an ashtray and settled back to read his paper. The cigaret set off a bullet that had been left in the ashtray, and Mr. Drager was shot in the arm. No other cigaret can make that statement!

It's kind of embarrassing to have any kind of a bathtub accident, but it's even worse when you have one on the open highway. Andrew Anderson of Oakland, Calif., is sure of that. Mr. Anderson was passing a truck on the busy Monterey highway near Gilroy, Calif., when the truck hit a chuckhole. Three bathtubs on the truck bounced off and crashed through the top of the Anderson car. He was treated for bruises and, understandably, for shock.

Baseball pitchers who don't like the lively ball can count Miss Estelle Hester in on their side. Miss Hester was washing her car across the street from Wrigley Field in Los Angeles one day when a batter socked a home run over the centerfield wall. Miss Hester caught the ball—smack on the head. The batter came in to score. Miss Hester was out—cold.

★

Ashley Kelley, a telephone lineman in Washington, D. C., was surprised while working in a manhole one day to have an eight-year-old girl drop in on him. She was Delores Loenberger. The only thing broken was her fall, cushioned when she landed squarely on lineman Kelley.

Do you think feminine curiosity is overrated? Well, in Pasadena, Calif., Mrs. Elizabeth Knudsen arrived at a railroad crossing to find the wig-wags wig-wagging full tilt. Intrigued, she drove on the tracks to see what was coming. It was a train, of all things. She backed up hastily, but the locomotive caught the front bumper of her car. Mrs. Knudsen, her curiosity satisfied, was unhurt.

Just outside Ann Arbor, Mich., two horses used driver-sense and crashed head-on into each other at full speed. Both were killed.

And in Chicago, a guy who works for the National Safety Council and goes around telling other people to be careful, slipped on the ice on his own driveway, fell and broke his arm. You can't be too careful!

To insure daily repetition of prayers, twelfth-century Persians decorated their dwelling walls with clay tiles in which prayers were inscribed.

Choice Lies Ahead; Either Work Together or All Perish Together

A fragment of a star whirls in space and spins another year in the seamless web of time. . . . We are a year away from the 20th century's halfway mark. But time cannot be measured solely by a calendar or clock. . . . Danger can make a minute an eternity. Happiness gives time wings, and a year will seem no longer than a wink.

Make way for civilization's latest birthday. Toot your horns and let the rainbow particles of confetti somersault in the air . . . Yet we cannot close our eyes to the agony of yesterday and expect to face joy tomorrow. We light one year on the stub of the last.

The split second that makes the difference between '48 and '49 doesn't separate them—it is their link. Past, present and future are a part of a single minute.

We are approaching the middle of the 20th century — but in many parts of the planet the human spirit still hasn't emerged from a cave. Here comes a newly-minted year, and age-old problems are coming with it.

★

There is much to show for almost 2,000 years of civilization ....Great cities gleam in the night like luminous fairylands. Press a button and a million mechanical miracles appear.... Scientists have dreamed up marvels that would make Aladdin's lamp envious....This is a jet-propelled age. Here's New York — whiz! There's London. Around the world in a flash .. Hallelujah! Amazing wonders are four-for-a-penny.

★

We have all the fabulous toys for happiness. When will the world make it possible for us to play with them in peace? Fear and suspicion grip nations like a noose. Ignorance is king; ancient hatreds are rampant.... Listen! Starving children weep—and the agony of centuries cries out to the conscience of mankind.

In the midst of modern wonders with built-in miracles—pagan brutality is rife in many places. That's enough to arouse the wildest celebrations in Hell.

Down through the centuries valiant humans fought and died so all could live with dignity. Their blood has seeped into the earth—but where are the fruits of their sacrifices? Before the grass turns green on their graves we bury the objectives of their fortitude.

★

Why? Because there are leaders who are ready to sell out a generation, yet unborn for a slice of real estate. There are barbarians in striped trousers who make deceit a national policy and commit murder in the name of diplomacy.

They think of humanity as a faceless mass. Blood and thunder and power are their passwords. Misery is their weapon and death their ally. They laugh at decency and find a peculiar music in the suffering of human beings.

They have forgotten—or never learned — the simple truth of international life: The most deadly enemy of one nation is not another nation—but war. The friendship one country shares with all nations can make any country invincible....The most powerful force of all is our devotion to God. No man lives alone — he only dies alone. Rip the fabric of peace anywhere in the world and all of us lose a little of its protective warmth.

These things are not the dreams of poets or pretty pictures in the minds of idealists. These are facts that you can write in letters of fire across the skies... It is plain, hard commonsense: Learn to live together or perish together.

Hal Boyle

Evils and Sorrows of 1948 Fall Behind; the Future Looks Rosy

NEW YORK—Let's open Pandora's box all over again.

Good night!

Oh, oh—that's wrong.

I mean happy New Year! I mean it really. Welcome—1949!

And why not? Can't you open Pandora's box and figure this way—something's in here good for mankind. Why not give it light? Light hasn't really hurt anybody in our world since — well, since way back last Saturday.

Last Saturday, of course, was the morning after. Is there, too, too much to repent about the eve before? So you made a double-dog fool of yourself the last night of 1948? Will you ever have the same chance to do it in front of the same company in the same way again?

Let us hope not. The Lord has his own mysterious way of removing elderly innocent bystanders from the scenes of our recent crimes. Our crimes against sensible society and our own conscience, I mean.

So today you are unique. You face life with a sense of guilt. But there the day stretches ahead of you—bright, fresh and new, and eager to record your repentant scrawl. Nobody in history saw the same day the same way before. Nobody will again

But as the day wears you are likely to see that other people are back at work too. So, whether you work for them or they work for you, you appreciate that life is pretty much a fellow-hangover against the dark—and you feel that life is going to go on

Darned, as a matter of fact, if you don't happen to think that you, too, have some importance in your effort to do your bit.

You know it isn't probably going to sway mankind—but at least you didn't hide out with a phoney cold. Life gains a thin rosy edge of virtue.

Well, if you have go that far, boss or hired hand, you are already a victim of Pandora's golden box. And that is a kind of version of the golden rule

Because, what with modern medical advances people don't pay so much attention to the diseases that Pandora used to let loose on a befuddled world with a reckless hand.

In 1949 people aren't looking for troubles—they have an eye open for blessings. They want hope more than they cry for help.

They are looking for something better rather than something worse. They want to eat high on the hog—and who's there to say there isn't room for everybody to gnaw?

No, sir, it always was a matter of propaganda what came out of Pandora's box. This year let's accept the idea it was good—and good for us all.

There's plenty of everything for everybody. And everything is in your mind.

If I'm wrong call me a liar in 1950 But as for 1949—it's only here once

Let's live it—and let Pandora shut the gol-darned lid! We won't go this way again. No, none of us.

Stewart Will Head Commissioners

Democrats In Control Of County

Some Workers Get More Pay

Guy W. Stewart, Democrat of Lucas, was selected today by his fellow members to head the Richland county board of county commissioners for 1949.

The selection was made during the annual reorganization meeting of the new Democratic-controlled board, which also appointed or reappointed county employes for the new year.

A new member, Fred W. Dill, of Bellville, joined the board. A Democrat, Dill defeated Republican John W. Selby for the post. The other member of the board is C. L. Shoup, of Plymouth township. Stewart and Dill began new terms today. Selby was chairman last year.

Appointed as county relief director was Harvey W. Burghard, at a salary of $300 per month, an increase of $25 over last year.

Named county dog warden was Charles J. Hunt, at a salary of $235 per month, an increase of $10 Chosen as clerk of the board was P. S. Carroll, at $300 per month. Last year's salary for the clerk was $280 plus $25 for handling veterans' housing, such as collecting rents and taking care of repairs.

Commissioners picked Marcus S. Kaufman as assistant janitor, at a salary of $175. He takes the place of Newell E. Smith.

MRS. MENCHAN NAMED

Mrs. Marie Menchan was reappointed as county humane officer at a salary of $250 a month, an increase of $25.

Reappointed on the janitorial staff at the court house were Harold Snyder and Frank Vidmar and Mrs. Rosa Hetler and Mrs. Verna Long.

Deputies appointed by Sheriff E. P. Long, who began his term today, are Joseph Hetler, C. C. Gongwer, Norman M. Smaltz, Foster Palmer, Randall B. Bliss, Roscoe Swartz, Harold Aston and Miss Marie Horn. Miss Horn will work as clerk of the sheriff's office in the court house.

Beginning work in the prosecutor's office under Harold Lutz, who took office today, are Assistant Prosecutor James J. Mayer and Florine Varner, office secretary

Three other court house officeholders, who won re-election, began their terms today. They are County Engineer Walter E. Rusk, Recorder D. D. Orewiler and Clerk of Courts Howard Wenning. There were no changes in personnel in their offices.

Win Delay In Trial For Tree Cutting

Brothers Enter Innocent Plea

Two Sandusky brothers, charged with illegally cutting more than 100 Christmas trees on the Philip Schmutzler farm near Adario early in December, pleaded innocent in municipal court today and won a continuance until Jan. 18.

Albert Fresch, 22, and Dominic Fresch, 24, posted $1,000 bonds in municipal court two weeks ago and hearing was set for today.

The pair was arrested after sheriff's deputies found a delivery bill made out to their father at the scene of the tree cutting. The bill was found at the spot where a truck had been mired in the mud after the trees were cut The trees, however, were not removed

In other cases, three drivers were fined $75 and costs and lost their right to drive for six months.

James F. Moore, of the Phoenix hotel, and Charles Fili, 796 Maple street, pleaded guilty to charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol, and Thomas L. Baker, 311 Newman street, was found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident.

Amos F. Walters, of Ashland, was fined $15 and costs and lost his right to drive for 30 days on an unsafe operation charge. Fined $10 and costs were Gerald M. Brassard of Manchester, N. H., for speeding, and Henry Cheatham, of Cincinnati, for crossing the yellow line.

Death Takes Anton Gross

Anton Gross, 68, died unexpectedly at his home, 338 Second avenue, Sunday noon. Death resulted from a heart ailment.

Mr. Gross was born in Hungary Nov. 8, 1880 and had lived in Mansfield for the past 45 years. He was a retired molder, a member of St. Peter's Catholic church, Sons of Herman, German Sick Benefit society and the Leiderkranz.

Surviving are two sons, John of Mansfield and Frank of Boston Mass., two daughters, Mrs. Martin Weisgarber of Mansfield and Mrs Clyde Terry of Akron; one brother, Frank Gross of Mansfield; three sisters, Mrs. Frank Apple, Mrs. Mike Fetter and Mrs. Charles Lambacher, all of Mansfield; 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday at St. Peter's Catholic church with Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

Friends may call at the Wappner funeral home until time of of services.

Mike's Still Top Contender

Michael Robert Bocka was still Mansfield's first baby of the New Year.

To date no other reports of a baby born prior to 3:15 a. m Jan. 1, had been filed at the Mansfield health department. But, since there is a 10-day limit on the filing of such reports, nothing definite will be known until after Jan. 10.

In the meantime, Michael Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bocka, 26 Blanche street, slept peacefully in his crib at General hospital all unaware that he is under discussion as Mansfield's first baby.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!—It was no routine New Year's eve celebration for this group, principals in a dramatic rescue from a frigid Greenland icecap, as they gathered in a New York mid-town hotel. Shown as they toasted the New Year are (l. to r.) Mrs. Beaudry and Col. Emil Beaudry, the pilot who made the spectacular pickup; with Sgt. William Hope, Sgt. Robert Butler and Master Sgt. Roy McWade, three of the rescued men.—(International)

Sheriffs Hear Glattke

Officers to Meet In Columbus

Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent of the Mansfield reformatory, will address 250 sheriffs and deputies from Ohio's 88 counties at their 18th annual meeting in Columbus Wednesday.

Richland County Sheriff E. P. Long said he expected to attend the Wednesday session of the two-day convention.

"There's a lot of information I need to pick up," he said today as he began his term in the office of sheriff.

Glattke will speak Wednesday night on cooperation between reformatory officials and peace officers. He will address the Buckeye Sheriffs' association.

FBI agents and agents of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification also will attend the convention.

William McElroy, executive secretary of the association, said one day will be devoted to discussion of all phases of law enforcement and crime apprehension.

"With the realization that the past several years have brought an increase in the number of felonies committed each year," McElroy explained, "special attention will be given at the meeting to crime prevention and identification techniques."

Firms Report 20 Accidents

Twenty accidents, one involving permanent injury, occurred in November in the 156 firms participating in the fourth Mansfield accident prevention campaign, a report released by the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce safety council showed today.

Two of the accidents resulted in broken bones, nine resulted in more than seven days working time lost and eight in less than seven days working time lost, the report showed.

The campaign, promoted by the Industrial Commission of Ohio, placed the following organizations on the November honor roll:

Mansfield Senior high school, the city sanitation department, the Ohio Fuel Gas company, Borden's Dairy, the Yellow Stripe Cab company, Westinghouse Electric corporation, Martin Steel Products corporation, Mansfield Brass and Aluminum corporation, Swan Cleaners, Colby and Earick, Inc., A. and P. Tea company, M. O'Neil company and Standard Oil company.

Mrs. Barnett is assisted in troop duties by Mrs. Gerald Zeger.

School Bus Yields Victim

Find Woman's Body Wedged Under Seat

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — (INS) — The body of a young woman, apparently a murder victim, was found today wedged under a rear seat of an Alexandria school bus.

Police said that among the woman's effects they found a card bearing the name "Theodora Schmidt," and an undecipherable address in Baltimore. Also found were a prayer book and a nun's cap.

Broadus T. Bunch, jr., 19, the bus driver, discovered the body when he entered the vehicle on the parking lot where it had stood since Dec. 28.

So tightly was the corpse wedged under the bus seat that police were forced to use a crowbar to remove it.

Detectives immediately began an attempt to identify the victim. She was described as between 25 and 30 years of age, brown-haired, about five feet tall, of slender build, and wearing a blue dress, black cloth coat, black shoes, and brown silk stockings.

A number of addresses were found among the woman's effects, including that of a Baltimore convent which was being checked.

Alexandria Police Chief George Simms declared "there is every evidence that the woman came to her death through violence."

Joe Caporaletti, proprietor of a gasoline station which adjoins the filling station, told police that he saw a woman sitting in the parked school bus on Christmas eve.

But Caporaletti said he was not certain whether the woman he saw was the person whose remains were found today.

The gasoline station man added that he had told the woman he saw in the bus that she would have to leave and that she replied she had gone into the vehicle to "get warm."

Pupils Find Teacher Dead

MILLERSBURG — Marvin Hershberger, 46, a teacher in Holmes county schools for 27 years, was found dead in his classroom at Beachvale school when pupils reported there at 8:30 a. m. today. Dr. A. J. Earney, Holmes county coroner, said a heart attack caused death

Mr. Hershberger had left his Wooster road home here to report to his school at his customary 7:30 a. m. starting time. Beachvale school is located in the northeast section of Holmes county.

He is survived by his widow, Ella; a daughter, Mrs. Edith Nethero of Mansfield; a sister, Mrs Lester Gerber of Walnut Creek, and one grandchild. The Hunter funeral home here is in charge of arrangements.

$700 Taken From Safe

A $700 safe robbery at the Chocolate Bar, 188 North Main street, early yesterday was under police investigation today after officers said they found no evidence of forcible entry into the establishment.

The robbery, believed to have occurred between 4 a. m. and 11:45 a. m. Sunday, was reported to police by the manager, Richard Jones.

Jones said he found the safe standing open and a cardboard money folder emptied and thrown on the floor. He said $700 was in the folder when the place was closed. He added a change bag with an undetermined amount of money also was missing.

Police said there was no evidence that either the cafe or the safe was broken into.

Mother of City Resident Stricken

Mrs. John R. Foster, 223 Wood street, has received word of the death of her mother, Mrs. Velma Dennis 65, at the Jane M. Case hospital in Delaware Sunday night after a three-month illness.

Mrs. Dennis, who had visited frequently at the Foster home here, was a life-long resident of Delaware. Besides her daughter, she is survived by four grandchildren; two brothers and a sister. A son, Thurman Moyer, died four years ago.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Robinson-Brackney funeral home in Delaware with burial there.

County Fox Hunters To Meet Tonight

The Richland county Fox Hunters will meet today at 8 p. m. at the courthouse. The general meeting will be preceded by a meeting of officers, Harold C. Snyder, president of the group, said.

Snyder said that last Saturday, the group got five foxes and 10 owls in a hunt near Lexington. The second fox was shot by 10-year-old David Karsminski, who went along with his father.

Ticket Sales Up to 900

The rush for Chamber of Commerce banquet tickets was on today with nearly 100 tickets sold by noon on the first day of public sale.

C of C. officials said the noon count put the total of tickets sold at 900. Up to now the sale had been only for members of the Chamber.

All reservations for the dinner, to be held Jan. 14 at the Coliseum, must be in by Friday. Wives of members will be permitted to attend the dinner.

Tickets for the banquet may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office in the Farmers bank building, at the Farmers bank, Tawse drug store, Book Shop and Ritter's.

Delay School Opening

St. Peter's parochial schools, scheduled to resume classes today after the Christmas holidays, changed their plans yesterday and will re-open Wednesday morning with Mass at 8:15 a. m.

No reason was given for the change in plans except that the teachers in charge decided to extend the vacation for two more days.

However, several dozen children appeared at the school thinking that classes would be resumed today.

Soil District Group to Meet

The board of supervisors of the Richland County Soil Conservation district will meet tomorrow at 1 p. m. with Herbert Marshall, of the State Soil Conservation service, to elect officers and set up a plan for putting the conservation service in operation.

County Agent C. N. McGrew, in announcing the meeting, said it would be held in his office at the courthouse.

Ohio's General Assembly Goes Into First Session Today

See Lively Meeting For State Body

Both Parties To Pick Leaders

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio's 98th General assembly opens for business today.

Legislators elected last Nov. 2 for two-year terms meet to pick their leaders and square off for what promises to be a lively session.

Democrats won control of both the Senate and House of Representatives for the first time in ten years. But their margin is so thin they may have difficulty with controversial bills.

Democrats elected 69 representatives to 66 Republicans in the House. In the Senate, Democrats outnumber Republicans 19 to 14. Democrats had only four senators and 16 representatives in the last General assembly where GOP members had things pretty much their own way.

With the tables turned, Democrats willl pick Senate and House officers and get the bulk of patronage—jobs such as stenographers and attendants.

Lt. Gov. George D. Nye of Waverly will preside over the Senate after Frank J. Lausche's inauguration as governor Jan. 10. Nye and other elective state officials will be sworn in then.

He presided over the Senate in 1946-46 during Lausche's first term as governor.

Senate Democrats recently agreed in caucus to elect Sen. Margaret A. Mahoney of Cleveland as their majority leader. The decision guaranteed she will be the first woman to serve as president pro tem of the Senate. The post carries with it the chairmanship of the powerful Senate Rules committee.

Republicans agreed to name Sen. Roscoe R. Walcutt of Columbus as Senate minority floor leader.

Rep. John F. Cantwell of Youngstown is the choice of House Democrats for speaker. He was minority leader last session. Cantwell will replace Rep. C. William O'Neill of Marietta as speaker. O'Neill was picked by Republicans as House minority leader this session.

Democrats named A. G. Lancione, Bellaire attorney starting his second term, as majority floor leader at their caucus, assuring him that post.

Dwight L. Matchette of Greenville will be Senate clerk. He formerly served in that post in both the Senate and House. The new House clerk will be Delbert Nixon, Jefferson county welfare head and former state representative from that county. Both are Democrats.

Because of the close party division, every vote will be vital to [illegible] expecting to carry out their program.

Sayre Aide To Testify

NEW YORK — (INS) — New York's spy-probing grand jury is scheduled to resume hearings today with indications its star witness, Whittaker Chambers, will be recalled for further questioning. The body had adjourned for a Christmas vacation.

Anna Belle Newcomb, secretary for former Secretary of State Francis B. Sayre, also is slated to be on hand when the jury returns to work.

Before its adjournment, the jury heard Sayre, who reportedly had been asked to identify government documents stolen from state department files for transmission to Russia. Miss Newcomb had not been questioned.

Chambers, admitted former member of a communist spy ring, had previously testified before the jury.

War Crimes Trials Set Precedent

Chinese Reds Follow Lead

By PAUL KERN LEE

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—When it comes to waging war, the Chinese communists keep right up with international styles.

They recently broadcast a list of 45 Chinese government leaders they intend to punish as "war criminals," if those individuals are unlucky enough ever to fall into Red hands.

It is doubtless more than mere coincidence that this list was made public only a couple days after the hanging of Hideki Tojo and his war-making Japanese companions in Tokyo. The Chinese government participated in the conviction of the Japanese.

Now the communists make clear to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek that this business of winners executing losers is a handy two-edged precedent.

It looks as if the allies started something.

The Reds suggest strongly that they are prepared to go considerably farther afield than the allies did in putting the finger on likely prospects for condemnation.

They say that the communist armies will have first picks, but "all people's organizations throughout the country have also the right of listing war criminals."

If the communists win, their list is likely to be a whopper that will put Nuernberg and Tokyo in the shade.

Their first nominations are significant in several respects:

For omissions as well as inclusions; for timing; and for the supreme confidence in victory that publication denotes.

The name of Chiang Kai-Shek naturally leads all the rest. As an indication that they are not fooling, the Reds say in another broadcast that banners emblazoned "Take Chiang Kai-Shek Alive" greeted their Manchurian troops entering north China.

Second on the roll is Vice President Li Tsung-Jen. That contains an element of surprise. Li bucked Chiang to get elected in the first place, and lately has been mentioned as the would-be head of a compromise group.

Evidently the Reds are not prepared to deal with Mr. Li.

They also blacklist former Premier Chang Chun, who long has been described as a moderate peace-through-negotiation man. The fact that Chang has just taken a job in the Sun Fo cabinet may have something to do with the Reds' disapproval.

Bucyrus Girl, 13, Killed By Fumes From Gas Stove

BUCYRUS — Carbon monoxide fumes from a gas stove caused the death here Saturday night of 13-year-old Marilyn Ruth Outhwaite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Outhwaite, 310 Iron street.

The young girl was found unconscious on the bathroom floor by her mother about 11 p. m. Saturday. City Firemen Ralph Mead administered artificial respiration for a half hour in an effort to revive her. A verdict of accidental death caused by carbon monoxide gas was returned by Crawford County Coroner O. R. Kackley of Galion.

The girl's parents told police she had been in the bathroom about a half hour. She had put her hair in curlers and was preparing to take a bath when she was overcome by the fumes, police said.

Born here on July 10, 1935, Marilyn was the daughter of Fred and Theresa Hill Outhwaite. Surviving, besides the parents, are two brothers, Paul R. and Warren F., both of Bucyrus, and the paternal grandfather, John Outhwaite, who lives at the Iron street address.

She was a Bucyrus junior high school student and a member of Woodlawn Evangelical - United Brethren church and the Blue Triangle club, a school organization.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Lutz funeral home here with Rev. Mahlon Wenger, pastor of Woodlawn E. U. B. church, officiating. Burial will be in Nevada cemetery. Friends may call tonight at the funeral home.

Earl G. Ambrose, a Columbus tavern keeper; James Smith, 25, a Tiffin farmer, and Orville Taylor of Niles, Mich., driver of the truck in which Daniels and West were riding when police halted them.

Daniels appears resigned to his fate. Warden Alvis said Daniels spent Sunday quietly without visitors.

"He's taking it very nicely. He's very quiet," Alvis said.

The warden said a great change apparently had come over Daniels who entered the prison shouting and swearing.

"We haven't had a bit of trouble with him since that first night. He's been a good inmate ever since."

He said Daniels had had no outside exercise since he was up under discipline the first night he entered the penitentiary.

"While he was quiet, you never can tell what will happen and we didn't want to put temptation in his way," the warden said.

The last meal Daniels ordered, Alvis added, contained as many of his favorite foods as he thought he could eat—fried chicken, fried oysters, chili con carne, potatoes, limburger cheese spread, bread, butter, coffee, grape juice, orange juice, vanilla ice cream with chocolate syrup and chocolate cake.

2 Days In Life of Boy Make Thrilling Story

Prize-Winning Novel Ready at Library

"STOKERS MESS," by Arne Skouen, is one of 18 new books available at the Mansfield Public library today.

This fiction selection is the winner of both the Norwegian and the All-Scandinavian prizes. It tells the story of two days in the life of a 15-year-old messboy.

Einar, the messboy, grows up from a day-dreaming boy to a mature youth in a few hours when the crew of his vessel and that of another ship stage an all-night fight.

THE STORY OF INDURAJA, by Hilda Wernher, contrasts the old India with the modern. When Induraja, daughter of an enlightened ruler was left a widow in the conservative court of her father-in-law, she refused to conform to the old customs and rigid restrictions of Hinduism.

For a time she struggled against these rules, and against the malice of the other women of the family. Then she returned home to her own father, where, with his aid, she could work for the betterment of her people. And here she met Patrick Lawrence, the charming young Englishman, and Abdur Rahman, the young Moslem surgeon, both of whom offered her love.

CLOUDED STAR, by Anne Parrish, is the story of the journey of nine men, women and children from slavery to freedom. Their leader, Harriet Tubman, known to he people as Moses had the courage, strength and faith to bring them through, in spite of their own weakness.

Other fiction includes:

SANGAREE, by Slaughter: FAMOUS DOG STORIES, by Cooper: THE FOURTH POSTMAN, by Rice.

Non-fiction:

CLOUD BY DAY, by Murial Sheppard, is the vividly written, engrossing history of the mining industry, particularly in the Pittsburgh region. Both sides are presented and humanized-labor organizers and strikers, the bewildered foreigners and the management. Much information is imparted enjoyably by an author who knows her subject and presents it without bias.

THE PARSON TAKES A WIFE, by Maria Williams Shurin, is the personal account of the author's experiences as a minister's wife. Having been brought up in a well-to-do and socially proper Richmond family, she probably would not have married a minister if she had not developed the amazing notion of getting a job instead of going to parties. As secretary-chauffeur to the Rev. Mr. Montague, she became acquainted with the church at work, and she met the beguiling young clergyman with a ready wit and a gift of gab. She recalls with humor and narrative skill their life in his various parishes and the work they shared.

WILD ANIMALS OF THE WORLD, by Bridges, is so beautifully illustrated and so pleasingly written that it has been termed "a zoo which can be taken into the home."

THE DOLLS OF YESTERDAY, by Eleanor St. George, a fascinating account of dolls and doll collecting in Europe and America for the past 200 years, is a new addition to the John Baxter Black Collection.

Other non-fiction: STALIN AND GERMAN COMMUNISM, by Fischer; MANUAL OF FOUNDRY AND PATTERN SHOP PRACTICE, by Benedict; STANDARD BOOK OF HOUSEHOLD PETS, by Baird; COST ACCOUNTING, by Blocker; PERSONAL FINANCE, by Donaldson; 2,000 DESIGNS, FORMS AND ORNAMENTS, by Estrin; PRACTICAL MANUAL OF OFFICE WORKERS, by Faunce; LANGUAGE THROUGH PICTURES, by Pfeiffer.

One 'Clean-Up Week' Isn't Enough

ONE RESOLUTION that would bring considerable improvement in the attractiveness of Mansfield, if carried through during the new year, would be a co-operative effort to make this a cleaner city—in such matters as littered streets, neglected vacant lots, rubbish-strewn alleys, and the like.

Despite promises of regular clean-up of downtown streets, extent to which scrap paper is left to blow around in the business area is the subject of frequent comment by residents and visitors. Custom of many business places is to sweep sidewalk litter from the sidewalk into the street, which serves no good purpose unless this is regularly gathered up and disposed of.

Complaint is also made that trucks filled with scrap paper and other rubbish are driven through streets without being covered in a way to prevent scatterment of loose fragments along the route.

An East Sixth street resident makes the specific complaint that in some instances where animals have been hit by cars the carcasses have been permitted to lie in the street "until nothing was left but the fur," and she also makes reference to "one place on Diamond street where ashes have accumulated for five years."

She says she is not speaking for herself alone, but for her neighborhood, and expresses hope that 1949 will bring attention to such conditions and make Mansfield a better place in which to live.

Lack of funds, of course, hampers some of the reasonably expected public services, but absence of efficient direction must also be held responsible for at least a part of slovenliness of municipal housekeeping, and a check-up on delinquencies would seem to be a necessary first step toward betterment.

Business Gains As Prices Drop

BOTH BUYERS and sellers of goods got a year-end psychological lift from reports on the nation's commerce. The Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics said that prices in November continued the slight downward trend which began in October. Almost all foods became cheaper, and there were slight reductions in many other lines. This is cheering to the individual held to a budget, although price cuts have not yet been enough to make much impression on him as he shops in the stores.

For the business world there was good news from Dun & Bradstreet that the volume of retail store sales was still high. In the first part of the month Christmas buying failed to develop the volume which had been expected, and some prophets were quick to suggest that buyers had begun to recoil from current prices, but when final figures are in December buying may be found to have been the highest on record. If a business slump is coming, it has not yet cast its shadow across all retail stores.

Many keen business people believe that business will continue to boom if a small downward movement in prices can be kept going. Reports on sales and prices, taken together, seem to confirm this theory.

Change of Thought Noted In Europe

DR. JUAN A. BRAMUGLIA, who directed the Security Council mediation proceedings in the still unsettled Berlin dispute, in an interview with United States News and World Report stated that he had observed a change of opinion among the people of Europe during his stay in Paris.

Distrust, lack of confidence and a belligerent spirit formerly characterized the attitude of the mass of Europeans, according to the mediator. He calls the Security Council "the hope of all European peoples," and gives that body credit for a change of spirit which embodies a hope for permanent peace. The fact that the Russian blockade of Berlin did not result in an immediate outbreak of hostilities has given grounds for that hope, says Dr. Bramuglia. In speaking of the disputes between Russia and the Western world, the mediator said:

"The people think that all these problems have solutions; that it is necessary to search for and to find the solutions, basically, through mutual respect, understanding, and co-operation."

Dr. Bramuglia believes, however, that it may take some centuries to evolve a working world government.

The fact that the people of Europe believe in the efficacy of mediation and of a search for reasonable solutions to the present inflammable problems with which they are beset is bound to influence their representatives favorably. Their vital decisions will not be made without taking into account the hopes of the people.

New Words Are Sometimes Needed

AMONG rare achievements is the invention of a new word, and it is even harder to get it accepted by popular use and the dictionaries. J. B. Van Helmont, a Dutch scientist of the seventeenth century, discovered an invisible form of air, which he named "gas." The word has been used ever since. How he happened on the word, can only be guessed; it has been suggested that he was influenced by the Greek word "chaos" or the Dutch "geest," meaning "spirit."

An English student of the past, William J. Thoms, was dissatisfied with the cumbrous term "popular antiquities" for old customs and traditions. He deliberately made up the word "folklore," and so successful was his creation that it has been taken over intact into French, Spanish and Russian, perhaps into other languages as well.

Then came a man with a real claim to distinction—he invented not one new word, but two. This was William Whewell, an English professor of moral philosophy in the early part of the nineteenth century. According to John R. Baker's book, "Science and the Planned State," Whewell coined the word "physicist" for an investigator in the field of physics. Even more successful was his other brain-child, "scientist," which the English-speaking world has used frequently ever since.

Decision as to acceptance of new words rests with the people. Words which are generally used will get into the language. If they fail to appeal, no amount of promotion will popularize them.

Claude Callan advises: "Daughter should seriously consider a young man who can't get the family car every night. There is sure to be something to a young fellow who has smart parents."

Complaint comes from behind the Iron Curtain that shoes produced in Russia last only four days—the difference being that this seems to apply to adults as well as children.

Washington Calling

Trying Out Resolutions

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THIS IS the time when customarily we weak and groping mortals look into the future and resolve to improve our conduct. The turning of a page in the calendar and the appearance of those new and startling numerals, 1949, remind us all of the fleeting nature of our tenure on this globe.

For columnists and commentators the year just past should have been a chastening one. It should have cured or curbed, temporarily at least, the chief occupational disease of this business.

That is, the tendency to large pronouncements that seem to have been inscribed by the writer on tablets of stone, to sweeping predictions, to dicta handed down from lofty, cloud-enwrapped heights.

I have been thinking of these things as I have tried to frame some resolutions of my own. A strong incentive in this endeavor has been the letters in the past two months from indignant readers applying a variety of adjectives and epithets.

It is well to begin small in these matters. I resolve to be extra careful about attributing "familiar" quotations to the proper author.

I shall, in this year, abjure that odious and condescending phrase "the little people." I shall, to the best of my ability, resist the inroads of that insidious disease Washingtonitis which deludes its victims, and they are many, into believing that this capital is the seat of all wisdom and all ability.

I shall try to severely ration myself in the use of the word "crisis" and the word "problem". Perhaps once a week would be enough for "crisis". I don't see, however, how I can get along without using "problem" a minimum of twice a week.

Rationing the word "crisis" is not going to be easy. It seems to jump out of so many headlines in almost any newspaper. The columnist always is shaking it threateningly in the reader's face.

But a lot can be said in defense of the habit. For with each passing week, it becomes clearer that the weary world is in a state of crisis which shows no signs of abating in 1949.

Communism's Challenge.

OUR FORM of civilization in the West is challenged by another form that, at times, seems to be more dynamic, and have a greater intensity. The challenge comes when the West is battered and bruised from a cycle of wars.

In our busy, rushing America we are reluctant to face up to what this means. Too often we fail to realize that what we do at home is directly related to the challenge.

No one who has looked at the two systems with anything like objectivity can doubt which offers the most in both material rewards and in the freedoms that give space to the development of the human spirit.

Many who were deceived in the thirties by the promise of a perfect state that communism seemed to hold out long since have been undeceived by the terrifying realities of Soviet Russia.

Most of us in this country, individualists, complete and total, find it hard to comprehend that we have an individual responsibility. The challenge is directed not at an abstraction but at each and every one of us.

The best hope of peace is in the acceptance of this challenge. It is in a demonstration that our way of life is capable of continuous evolution toward higher and higher standards of freedom, equality of opportunity and material reward. That kind of peaceful conquest can finally resolve the world crisis.

I have a feeling that right at the start I have broken my most solemn resolution. But that may be what resolutions are really for.

Advise Monopoly Curb

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — It is regarded as highly significant that the Council of Economic Advisers set up under the 1946 Employment Act has chosen at this time to point to the alarming and increasing concentration of industry and industrial control in this country.

Ten pages of its third annual report to the President is devoted to this subject by the three-man council headed by Edwin G. Nourse, chairman, and including Leon H. Keyserling, vice-chairman, and John D. Clark.

This is the report in which the council deals regularly with broad trends and policies, or, as it puts it, "our thinking about the novel and difficult tasks assigned to us under the Employment Act of 1946," as distinct from the detailed analysis of current economic conditions which is submitted to the President later to accompany his own economic report to Congress.

"Year by year," the report says, "control of the market is passing more largely into the hands of the large corporations, not only by internal growth but by the absorption of smaller firms. The process of expansion of large corporations by swallowing the smaller continues, and the concentration of economic power becomes more intense."

Quoting from a recent study to show how the mission of small business is to promote "a dynamic society and ensure the American economy against sterility," the council then says:

"These are the reasons the Council of Economic Advisers must be concerned with the fate of small business when it considers its responsibility under the Employment Act of 1946 'to develop and recommend to the President economic policies to foster and promote free competitive enterprise.' The very existence of the administered-price industries warns us that the competition offered by the myriad of small business units must not be lost but instead be strengthened and expanded. A good in itself, this will also reinforce such salutary policies as the larger firms may themselves adopt."

* * *

Sherman Law Weakened.

THE TERM "administered price industries" applies to groups of big industries that exercise wide control and among which, as the council explains, there is "an historical pattern of the share of business to be enjoyed by each of the leaders."

Production is adjusted to maintain a satisfactory market price. To achieve this result it is not necessary that there be any actual agreement among them which, of course, would be a violation of the anti-trust laws.

While the council suggests no legislation, but is hopeful that the industries themselves will exercise restraint with the help of analysis from the council, it points out a remedy suggested recurrently for administered price industries, beginning in 1908 with President Theodore Roosevelt.

This is for the government to abandon attempts to control them through the anti-trust laws and substitute direct government control of big units.

The council shows how through the years the theory of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law has been modified.

"Warm admiration for the policy of the Sherman Act has often been expressed," it says, "but efforts to strengthen that policy in two substantive provisions of the statutes and in the improvement of the enforcement process have been blocked while one exception from the anti-trust laws after another has been provided. These began with the exception of exporters in the Webb-Pomerene Act of 1918 and closed, as of this date, with the exception of railway rate bureaus in the Reed-Bulwinkle Act of 1948."

The anti-trust statutes have indeed became a mockery in such cases as the recent exemption of railroads which was done by Congress, itself, under pressure from that powerful industry.

The fact that the Council of Economic Advisers now is pointing out these facts and asking some pertinent questions, indicates that it can't be too long before Congress itself must explore the whole policy and do something about it if we expect to ward off complete control of our economy by great empires of private capital.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Seek Compromise In Civil-Rights Issue

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A compromise solution to the dynamite-laden civil rights program has been worked out by Arkansas Congressman Brooks Hays. It may prevent the battle of Northern Democrats vs. Southern Democrats which could bog Congress down for weeks.

The Hays compromise is to sidestep the federal employment practices commission, otherwise known as FEPC.

Several southern solons are now reluctantly ready to admit they cannot block an anti-lynching bill.

The poll tax is no longer a real issue, since approximately one-half the southern states have already abolished it on their own initiative. This leaves the FEPC as the real sore thumb in the Truman civil-rights program.

Congressman Hays' solution is to substitute for the FEPC an employment counseling service. This would protect Negroes' working rights and straighten out racial problems on an individual basis.

This plan wouldn't be as harsh, Congressman Hays argues, as an outright fair employment law. He also proposes that criminal penalties be removed and civil penalties substituted to nudge reluctant employers.

As an added concession and a step toward abolishing segregation in the South, the Arkansas Congressman is willing to outlaw segregation on interstate commercial transportation — and he doesn't think his fellow southerners will object.

Many northern Democrats have already studied Hays' proposal and are willing to compromise. Hays, however, must still convince President Truman.

* * *

Six-Month Program.

THE Democratic goal, as the 81st Congress opens today, is to smash through the Truman program in exactly six months. They want to do this while the new Congress still has the smell of the grass roots in its nostrils. Here is the legislative bill-of-fare:

1. Vote to raise the President's salary to $100,000, plus $25,000 expenses; and the vice president's salary to $30,000, plus $10,000 expenses, during the first two weeks while Congress is getting organized; 2. Repeal the Taft-Hartley Act; 3. Raise minimum hourly wages to about 75 cents; 4. Put across public housing and slum clearance; 5. $300,000,000 vital aid to education; 6. Public health insurance; 7. restoration of reciprocal trade treaties; 8. Abolish tax on oleomargarine; 9. Vote more storage space for government-purchased grain; 10. Ratify the International Wheat Agreement; 11. Grant statehood to Hawaii and Alaska; 12. Open U.S. doors to 200,000 more displaced persons.

Biggest fight, however, will be over the budget. President Truman is determined to hold down expenses. The military, however, want more. Meanwhile, congressmen warn that the administration cannot afford to curtail civilian agencies already cut to the bone by the 80th Congress.

Rayburn Tells Boys Off.

IT WAS patient, friendly Speaker Sam Rayburn who cracked the whip at secret huddles of House leaders in favor of a "speedup" of the creaky rules committee and some "plastic surgery" on the ways and means committee.

"I've tried to be fair and patient with the rules committee in the past," declared Rayburn, "but I'm going to be much firmer from now on in insisting that it bring out important legislation. It's got to keep in step with the party and the times."

When someone suggested that they wait to see whether Dixiecrats Gene Cox of Georgia and Howard Smith of Virginia would continue to team up with rules committee Republicans, John McCormack of Massachusetts immediately backed up Rayburn.

"Let's not wait until later," he urged. "Let's liberalize the rules committee now."

This met general agreement from others at the meeting, including Mike Mansfield of Montana, Herman Eberharter of Pennsylvania, John Carroll of Colorado and Chet Holifield of California.

* * *

Convincing Bob Doughton.

SPEAKER RAYBURN also did some plain talking during a conference on the organization of the ways and means committee with chairman "Muley" Bob Doughton of North Carolina. The North Carolinian was politely, but firmly, told that his committee would have to undergo a face-lifting.

A higher quota of liberal members was needed to insure favorable consideration of administration tax, social security, reciprocal trade and other measures, said Rayburn, adding that he hoped Doughton and his ways and means colleagues would keep this in mind when they filled six Democratic vacancies on the committee.

Rayburn and McCormick also made it clear that "geographical considerations" as well as a liberal philosophy, should be kept in mind in filling the vacancies.

The leaders pointed out that, of the 10 Democrats now on the committee, only one—John Dingell of Michigan—was from the Middle West or West.

The 85-year-old Doughton is called "Muley" because of his sometimes stubborn character. But, although he has been no ball of fire in supporting administration tax and social-security legislation, he agreed to follow the "Speaker's suggestions".

Farmer's Diary

—By CALVIN A. BYERS
OUR VILLAGE WEEKLY

MOST farmers read a weekly, rural newspaper. The one published in our village seemed especially typical this last week, of what folks in our neighborhood are doing. Let's look at it briefly—eight pages, six columns wide—more than half local advertisements.

Page One headlined the overcrowded condition of our schools—chosen by the state department of education as typical of conditions over the state. A photographer took pictures and made sound recordings for P-TA use everywhere. Our school superintendent wrote the article.

The other main headline featured the Big Grange Diamond Jubilee. Two hundred people ate a covered-dish dinner and helped with the program of the evening, which featured a home talent play and a square dance afterward in the school auditorium.

Our Grange is 75 years old. Its history was given briefly by a local historian. "In early years the buying of supplies for family and farm was one of the activities of the Grange . . . the minutes show that one meeting ordered 30 pounds of tea and a barrel of rice; another time a carload of salt; a barrel of dried peaches and six barrels of sugar were ordered."

Two weddings were on Page One, one death notice and one obituary. The local high school basketball team had scored its second victory. Hospital notes showed that most folks came back alive. (Most weeks we do better than that and bring home new babies.)

One of the loveliest columns gave notice of the Messiah oratorio to be presented at the Presbyterian church—told the story of Handel's composition of this great work.

The local Garden club enjoyed a Christmas party . . . the local stores will stay open evenings all week . . . PTA held regular meeting . . . the dancing class for beginners held final prom.

Turn the pages. No "canned copy." All local news contributed by dwellers in the five communities served by this little newspaper. And ads—names—visitors—church news—public sales—find market here . . . live bait, dead stock.

"Your newspaper is what you help make it"—says the box in the upper corner. "A good newspaper helps to make your town better."

I asked the editor how many families received the paper. He told me 1,288 families—around 5,000 people read each issue. The cute kiddies—a group of six photos on Page One always draws more than a passing glance. Such a paper has all the personality and charm of an open letter. Our folks forward it to kinfolk and neighbors around the world.

As Cerf Tells It

NEW YORK — America's only living ex-president is way behind in his fishing.

But Herbert Hoover, the nation's most distinguished angler, will catch up with his fishing, family and friends in March. The Hoover report on modernization of the executive branch of the government, undertaken a year ago at the behest of Congress, has played hob with all three.

However, the report should be completed within another six weeks. Then, if everything runs on schedule, the former president will be in his element, bouncing about on a houseboat off the Florida Keys, surrounded by gaffs, game fish and grandchildren.

The family reunion off Florida with his two sons, his pretty daughters-in-law, his six grandchildren and as many old friends as he can lay hands on has always been a fixed feast on Mr. Hoover's calendar until 1949.

But the former president, now pushing 75, has postponed the reunion from February until March this year in order to finish the job set him by Congress.

Except when called on for public service, which happens more and more frequently these days, Mr. Hoover probably lives more quietly and farther removed from the public eye than any former president in memory, even Calvin Coolidge.

For many years, Mr. Hoover has accomplished a singular feat. He has lived almost in anonymity in New York, the gossip columnists' paradise. And in the Waldorf-Astoria, to boot. Yet most New Yorkers and their fellow citizens throughout the land still think of him as living in California the year round.

This elder statesman leads a singularly active life. An 18-hour day has always been routine for him and still is when he is swamped with work, as with the present report.

Despite the mountains of work he tackles, the former president, who will be 75 on next Aug. 10, is in excellent health. His hair is snow white now, and thin on top. But his blue eyes are as clear and sharp as ever, and his complexion fresh and rosy.

Mr. Hoover's day begins with a brisk constitutional before his 8:45 a. m. breakfast. Then he is ready for the business of the day, if he has not waked at 5 or 6 a. m. and gotten a head start long before his staff arrives.

These early rising hours, acquired in mining camps in his youth and once the despair of cabinet officers and friends, still cling to him occasionally. However, now that he is in his 75th year, he does his best to lie abed till 7:30 a. m.

He gives an extraordinary amount of time to the Boys' Clubs of America, of which he is chairman. In his quiet way, he has done wonders for these clubs and through them, for underprivileged children.

The Hoover institute and library on war, revolution and pearce, one of the most extraordinary cache of source documents of 20th century history in the world, is among his major interests.

Mining and fishing are his first loves. He now mines vicariously through his sons, Herbert jr., and Allan, both eminently successful mining engineers.

He has always found time to take his grandchildren to the circus. Allan's children are still young enough to offer him that excuse. Grandpa and the children enjoy themselves enormously.

If Mr. Hoover has any vice, aside from hard work and fishing, it is smoking. But, naturally he is not a chain smoker. He merely smokes a pipe whenever he is not smoking cigars!

Mr. Hoover probably knows more about the trout streams of America than any man. Occasionally, he even writes a magazine piece about his hobby. He has fished his way from coast to coast and from border to border. Less hardy friends groan that no physical punishment is too great for him—or them—if the fish are biting. He fishes as avidly now as ever.

Teachers, Pupils Pay Tribute To Memory of 'Pop' Elias

By NITA BRANSON

The hub-bub of 1,200 voices belonging to Senior high students who crowded into the auditorium at 11 a. m. today was suddenly stilled as Rev. Floyd Million spoke the opening words in tribute to the late Mathias K. Elias, for 17 years manager of athletic equipment at the high school.

The students were quiet in tribute to the man who had been their friend and advisor and whom they had loved and respected.

It was a sober faced group of students, many of them with bowed heads, who listened to the half dozen tributes paid "Pop" Elias, as he was known at Senior high.

Million told of having dined with "Pop" many times in the teachers' cafeteria.

"You get to know a man when you're eating with him," he said. "You get to appreciate, understand and sympathize with a man when you sit across the table from him. You have a spiritual fellowship as well as a physical. Mr. Elias had his faults, he made mistakes as we all do, but he believed in and trusted the Lord of Righteousness."

Rev. Million read from the passage in Timothy where Paul, nearing the end, says 'I have fought a good fight."

He was followed by George Middlebrook, who spoke of "Pop" Elias's friendliness, and how he had treated each boy and girl as if they were his own son and daughter.

"We will miss his happy face," Middlebrook said.

Harry Osbun spoke next.

"To me Mr. Elias was a great man. His greatness was not the boisterous kind but the kind you feel inside. "Pop" lived by the golden rule. He liked everybody and everybody liked him."

George Sherman, faculty member, speaking in behalf of the teachers at Senior high, recalled his willingness to give of his many experiences to others.

"When we asked him for advice, he had what you needed. And he was loyal, both to his school and the students and teachers. He used to say, 'There's always someone to take your place,' but to me there will never be anyone to take Mr. Elias's place."

Coach Augie Morningstar, who perhaps had closer association with "Pop" Elias than any other teacher, added his tribute to the others.

"Words will never express our great loss. 'Pop' saw 10,000 students come and go during his years here. Many of them wrote to him from college and he always answered. He never failed to give a kind word."

Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Jean A. Robinson with Martha Shiplet at the piano. Rev. Million gave the benediction.

One 'Clean-Up Week' Isn't Enough

ONE RESOLUTION that would bring considerable improvement in the attractiveness of Mansfield, if carried through during the new year, would be a co-operative effort to make this a cleaner city—in such matters as littered streets, neglected vacant lots, rubbish-strewn alleys, and the like.

Despite promises of regular clean-up of downtown streets, extent to which scrap paper is left to blow around in the business area is the subject of frequent comment by residents and visitors. Custom of many business places is to sweep sidewalk litter from the sidewalk into the street, which serves no good purpose unless this is regularly gathered up and disposed of.

Complaint is also made that trucks filled with scrap paper and other rubbish are driven through streets without being covered in a way to prevent scatterment of loose fragments along the route.

An East Sixth street resident makes the specific complaint that in some instances where animals have been hit by cars the carcasses have been permitted to lie in the street "until nothing was left but the fur," and she also makes reference to "one place on Diamond street where ashes have accumulated for five years."

She says she is not speaking for herself alone, but for her neighborhood, and expresses hope that 1949 will bring attention to such conditions and make Mansfield a better place in which to live.

Lack of funds, of course, hampers some of the reasonably expected public services, but absence of efficient direction must also be held responsible for at least a part of slovenliness of municipal housekeeping, and a check-up on delinquencies would seem to be a necessary first step toward betterment.

Business Gains As Prices Drop

BOTH BUYERS and sellers of goods got a year-end psychological lift from reports on the nation's commerce. The Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics said that prices in November continued the slight downward trend which began in October. Almost all foods became cheaper, and there were slight reductions in many other lines. This is cheering to the individual held to a budget, although price cuts have not yet been enough to make much impression on him as he shops in the stores.

For the business world there was good news from Dun & Bradstreet that the volume of retail store sales was still high. In the first part of the month Christmas buying failed to develop the volume which had been expected, and some prophets were quick to suggest that buyers had begun to recoil from current prices, but when final figures are in December buying may be found to have been the highest on record. If a business slump is coming, it has not yet cast its shadow across all retail stores.

Many keen business people believe that business will continue to boom if a small downward movement in prices can be kept going. Reports on sales and prices, taken together, seem to confirm this theory.

Change of Thought Noted In Europe

DR. JUAN A. BRAMUGLIA, who directed the Security Council mediation proceedings in the still unsettled Berlin dispute, in an interview with United States News and World Report stated that he had observed a change of opinion among the people of Europe during his stay in Paris.

Distrust, lack of confidence and a belligerent spirit formerly characterized the attitude of the mass of Europeans, according to the mediator. He calls the Security Council "the hope of all European peoples," and gives that body credit for a change of spirit which embodies a hope for permanent peace. The fact that the Russian blockade of Berlin did not result in an immediate outbreak of hostilities has given grounds for that hope, says Dr. Bramuglia. In speaking of the disputes between Russia and the Western world, the mediator said:

"The people think that all these problems have solutions; that it is necessary to search for and to find the solutions, basically, through mutual respect, understanding, and co-operation."

Dr. Bramuglia believes, however, that it may take some centuries to evolve a working world government.

The fact that the people of Europe believe in the efficacy of mediation and of a search for reasonable solutions to the present inflammable problems with which they are beset is bound to influence their representatives favorably. Their vital decisions will not be made without taking into account the hopes of the people.

New Words Are Sometimes Needed

AMONG rare achievements is the invention of a new word, and it is even harder to get it accepted by popular use and the dictionaries. J. B. Van Helmont, a Dutch scientist of the seventeenth century, discovered an invisible form of air, which he named "gas." The word has been used ever since. How he happened on the word, can only be guessed; it has been suggested that he was influenced by the Greek word "chaos" or the Dutch "geest," meaning "spirit."

An English student of the past, William J. Thoms, was dissatisfied with the cumbrous term "popular antiquities" for old customs and traditions. He deliberately made up the word "folklore," and so successful was his creation that it has been taken over intact into French, Spanish and Russian, perhaps into other languages as well.

Then came a man with a real claim to distinction—he invented not one new word, but two. This was William Whewell, an English professor of moral philosophy in the early part of the nineteenth century. According to John R. Baker's book, "Science and the Planned State," Whewell coined the word "physicist" for an investigator in the field of physics. Even more successful was his other brain-child, "scientist," which the English-speaking world has used frequently ever since.

Decision as to acceptance of new words rests with the people. Words which are generally used will get into the language. If they fail to appeal, no amount of promotion will popularize them.

Claude Callan advises: "Daughter should seriously consider a young man who can't get the family car every night. There is sure to be something to a young fellow who has smart parents."

Complaint comes from behind the Iron Curtain that shoes produced in Russia last only four days—the difference being that this seems to apply to adults as well as children.

Trying Out Resolutions

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THIS IS the time when customarily we weak and groping mortals look into the future and resolve to improve our conduct. The turning of a page in the calendar and the appearance of those new and startling numerals, 1949, remind us all of the fleeting nature of our tenure on this globe.

For columnists and commentators the year just past should have been a chastening one. It should have cured or curbed, temporarily at least, the chief occupational disease of this business.

That is, the tendency to large pronouncements that seem to have been inscribed by the writer on tablets of stone, to sweeping predictions, to dicta handed down from lofty, cloud-enwrapped heights.

I have been thinking of these things as I have tried to frame some resolutions of my own. A strong incentive in this endeavor has been the letters in the past two months from indignant readers applying a variety of adjectives and epithets.

It is well to begin small in these matters. I resolve to be extra careful about attributing "familiar" quotations to the proper author.

I shall, in this year, abjure that odious and condescending phrase "the little people." I shall, to the best of my ability, resist the inroads of that insidious disease Washingtonitis which deludes its victims, and they are many, into believing that this capital is the seat of all wisdom and all ability.

I shall try to severely ration myself in the use of the word "crisis" and the word "problem". Perhaps once a week would be enough for "crisis". I don't see, however, how I can get along without using "problem" a minimum of twice a week.

Rationing the word "crisis" is not going to be easy. It seems to jump out of so many headlines in almost any newspaper. The columnist always is shaking it threateningly in the reader's face.

But a lot can be said in defense of the habit. For with each passing week, it becomes clearer that the weary world is in a state of crisis which shows no signs of abating in 1949.

* * *

Communism's Challenge.

OUR FORM of civilization in the West is challenged by another form that, at times, seems to be more dynamic, and have a greater intensity. The challenge comes when the West is battered and bruised from a cycle of wars.

In our busy, rushing America we are reluctant to face up to what this means. Too often we fail to realize that what we do at home is directly related to the challenge.

No one who has looked at the two systems with anything like objectivity can doubt which offers the most in both material rewards and in the freedoms that give space to the development of the human spirit.

Many who were deceived in the thirties by the promise of a perfect state that communism seemed to hold out long since have been undeceived by the terrifying realities of Soviet Russia.

Most of us in this country, individualists, complete and total, find it hard to comprehend that we have an individual responsibility. The challenge is directed not at an abstraction but at each and every one of us.

The best hope of peace is in the acceptance of this challenge. It is in a demonstration that our way of life is capable of continuous evolution toward higher and higher standards of freedom, equality of opportunity and material reward. That kind of peaceful conquest can finally resolve the world crisis.

I have a feeling that right at the start I have broken my most solemn resolution. But that may be what resolutions are really for.

Advise Monopoly Curb

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — It is regarded as highly significant that the Council of Economic Advisers set up under the 1946 Employment Act has chosen at this time to point to the alarming and increasing concentration of industry and industrial control in this country.

Ten pages of its third annual report to the President is devoted to this subject by the three-man council headed by Edwin G. Nourse, chairman, and including Leon H. Keyserling, vice-chairman, and John D. Clark.

This is the report in which the council deals regularly with broad trends and policies, or, as it puts it, "our thinking about the novel and difficult tasks assigned to us under the Employment Act of 1946," as distinct from the detailed analysis of current economic conditions which is submitted to the President later to accompany his own economic report to Congress.

"Year by year," the report says, "control of the market is passing more largely into the hands of the large corporations, not only by internal growth but by the absorption of smaller firms. The process of expansion of large corporations by swallowing the smaller continues, and the concentration of economic power becomes more intense."

Quoting from a recent study to show how the mission of small business is to promote "a dynamic society and ensure the American economy against sterility," the council then says:

"These are the reasons the Council of Economic Advisers must be concerned with the fate of small business when it considers its responsibility under the Employment Act of 1946 'to develop and recommend to the President economic policies to foster and promote free competitive enterprise.' The very existence of the administered-price industries warns us that the competition offered by the myriad of small business units must not be lost but instead be strengthened and expanded. A good in itself, this will also reinforce such salutary policies as the larger firms may themselves adopt."

* * *

Sherman Law Weakened.

THE TERM "administered price industries" applies to groups of big industries that exercise wide control and among which, as the council explains, there is "an historical pattern of the share of business to be enjoyed by each of the leaders."

Production is adjusted to maintain a satisfactory market price. To achieve this result it is not necessary that there be any actual agreement among them which, of course, would be a violation of the anti-trust laws.

While the council suggests no legislation, but is hopeful that the industries, themselves, will exercise restraint with the help of analysis from the council, it points out a remedy suggested recurrently for administered price industries, beginning in 1908 with President Theodore Roosevelt.

This is for the government to abandon attempts to control them through the anti-trust laws and substitute direct government control of big units.

The council shows how through the years the theory of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law has been modified.

"Warm admiration for the policy of the Sherman Act has often been expressed," it says, "but efforts to strengthen that policy in two substantive provisions of the statutes and in the improvement of the enforcement process have been blocked while one exception from the anti-trust laws after another has been provided. These began with the exception of exporters in the Webb-Pomerene Act of 1918 and closed, as of this date, with the exception of railway rate bureaus in the Reed-Bulwinkle Act of 1948."

The anti-trust statutes have indeed became a mockery in such cases as the recent exemption of railroads which was done by Congress, itself, under pressure from that powerful industry.

The fact that the Council of Economic Advisers now is pointing out these facts and asking some pertinent questions, indicates that it can't be too long before Congress itself must explore the whole policy and do something about it if we expect to ward off complete control of our economy by great empires of private capital.

Seek Compromise In Civil-Rights Issue

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A compromise solution to the dynamite-laden civil rights program has been worked out by Arkansas Congressman Brooks Hays. It may prevent the battle of Northern Democrats vs. Southern Democrats which could bog Congress down for weeks.

The Hays compromise is to sidestep the federal employment practices commission, otherwise known as FEPC.

Several southern solons are now reluctantly ready to admit they cannot block an anti-lynching bill.

The poll tax is no longer a real issue, since approximately one-half the southern states have already abolished it on their own initiative. This leaves the FEPC as the real sore thumb in the Truman civil-rights program.

Congressman Hays' solution is to substitute for the FEPC an employment counseling service. This would protect Negroes' working rights and straighten out racial problems on an individual basis.

This plan wouldn't be as harsh, Congressman Hays argues, as an outright fair employment law. He also proposes that criminal penalties be removed and civil penalties substituted to nudge reluctant employers.

As an added concession and a step toward abolishing segregation in the South, the Arkansas Congressman is willing to outlaw segregation on interstate commercial transportation — and he doesn't think his fellow southerners will object.

Many northern Democrats have already studied Hays' proposal and are willing to compromise. Hays, however, must still convince President Truman.

* * *

Six-Month Program.

THE Democratic goal, as the 81st Congress opens today, is to smash through the Truman program in exactly six months. They want to do this while the new Congress still has the smell of the grass roots in its nostrils. Here is the legislative bill-of-fare:

1. Vote to raise the President's salary to $100,000, plus $25,000 expenses; and the vice president's salary to $30,000, plus $10,000 expenses, during the first two weeks while Congress is getting organized; 2. Repeal the Taft-Hartley Act; 3. Raise minimum hourly wages to about 75 cents; 4. Put across public housing and slum clearance; 5. $300,000,000 vital aid to education; 6. Public health insurance; 7. restoration of reciprocal trade treaties; 8. Abolish tax on oleomargarine; 9. Vote more storage space for government-purchased grain; 10. Ratify the International Wheat Agreement; 11. Grant statehood to Hawaii and Alaska; 12. Open U.S. doors to 200,000 more displaced persons.

Biggest fight, however, will be over the budget. President Truman is determined to hold down expenses. The military, however, want more. Meanwhile, congressmen warn that the administration cannot afford to curtail civilian agencies already cut to the bone by the 80th Congress.

Rayburn Tells Boys Off.

IT WAS patient, friendly Speaker Sam Rayburn who cracked the whip at secret huddles of House leaders in favor of a "speedup" of the creaky rules committee and some "plastic surgery" on the ways and means committee.

"I've tried to be fair and patient with the rules committee in the past," declared Rayburn, "but I'm going to be much firmer from now on in insisting that it bring out important legislation. It's got to keep in step with the party and the times."

When someone suggested that they wait to see whether Dixiecrats Gene Cox of Georgia and Howard Smith of Virginia would continue to team up with rules committee Republicans, John McCormack of Massachusetts immediately backed up Rayburn.

"Let's not wait until later," he urged. "Let's liberalize the rules committee now."

This met general agreement from others at the meeting, including Mike Mansfield of Montana, Herman Eberharter of Pennsylvania, John Carroll of Colorado and Chet Holifield of California.

* * *

Convincing Bob Doughton.

SPEAKER RAYBURN also did some plain talking during a conference on the organization of the ways and means committee with chairman "Muley" Bob Doughton of North Carolina. The North Carolinian was politely, but firmly, told that his committee would have to undergo a face-lifting.

A higher quota of liberal members was needed to insure favorable consideration of administration tax, social security, reciprocal trade and other measures, said Rayburn, adding that he hoped Doughton and his ways and means colleagues would keep this in mind when they filled six Democratic vacancies on the committee.

Rayburn and McCormick also made it clear that "geographical considerations" as well as a liberal philosophy, should be kept in mind in filling the vacancies.

The leaders pointed out that, of the 10 Democrats now on the committee, only one—John Dingell of Michigan—was from the Middle West or West.

The 85-year-old Doughton is called "Muley" because of his sometimes stubborn character. But, although he has been no ball of fire in supporting administration tax and social-security legislation, he agreed to follow the "Speaker's suggestions".

Farmer's Diary

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

OUR VILLAGE WEEKLY

MOST farmers read a weekly, rural newspaper. The one published in our village seemed especially typical this last week, of what folks in our neighborhood are doing. Let's look at it briefly—eight pages, six columns wide—more than half local advertisements.

Page One headlined the overcrowded condition of our schools—chosen by the state department of education as typical of conditions over the state. A photographer took pictures and made sound recordings for P-TA use everywhere. Our school superintendent wrote the article.

The other main headline featured the Big Grange Diamond Jubilee. Two hundred people ate a covered-dish dinner and helped with the program of the evening, which featured a home talent play and a square dance afterward in the school auditorium.

Our Grange is 75 years old. Its history was given briefly by a local historian. "In early years the buying of supplies for family and farm was one of the activities of the Grange . . . the minutes show that one meeting ordered 30 pounds of tea and a barrel of rice; another time a carload of salt; a barrel of dried peaches and six barrels of sugar were ordered."

Two weddings were on Page One, one death notice and one obituary. The local high school basketball team had scored its second victory. Hospital notes showed that most folks came back alive. (Most weeks we do better than that and bring home new babies.)

One of the loveliest columns gave notice of the Messiah oratorio to be presented at the Presbyterian church—told the story of Handel's composition of this great work.

The local Garden club enjoyed a Christmas party . . . the local stores will stay open evenings all week . . . PTA held regular meeting . . . the dancing class for beginners held final prom.

Turn the pages. No "canned copy." All local news contributed by dwellers in the five communities served by this little newspaper. And ads—names—visitors—church news—public sales—find market here . . . live bait, dead stock.

"Your newspaper is what you help make it"—says the box in the upper corner. "A good newspaper helps to make your town better."

I asked the editor how many families received the paper. He told me 1,288 families—around 5,000 people read each issue. The cute kiddies—a group of six photos on Page One always draws more than a passing glance. Such a paper has all the personality and charm of an open letter. Our folks forward it to kinfolk and neighbors around the world.

As Cerf Tells It

Mrs. Dubiller, back from England, announced that the British Museum wasn't everything it was cracked up to be. "I asked to see the skull of Oliver Cromwell," she particularized, "and they had to admit they had none. You should have seen their faces when I reminded them there's a fine one in that two-by-four museum up at Oxford."

One Man's Opinion

IN THE nation's greeting to the new Congress can be detected the usual California hurrahs, Dixie rebel yells and Bronx cheers.

* * *

But the tax problems of the 81st Congress have been solved by Jack Benny who wasn't even trying. Each time when Benny says "Hello Again": Secretary Snyder will answer.

* * *

But only Washington could translate LS/MFT into "Look Sam! Money for Treasury!"

* * *

And it's a little frightening to think that one attack of laryngitis could upset the Marshall plan.

* * *

It's called "Marshall" plan but on the tax books its the "Benny-Crosby-Lewis B. Mayer" plan.

NEW YORK — America's only living ex-president is way behind in his fishing.

But Herbert Hoover, the nation's most distinguished angler, will catch up with his fishing, family and friends in March. The Hoover report on modernization of the executive branch of the government, undertaken a year ago at the behest of Congress, has played hob with all three.

However, the report should be completed within another six weeks. Then, if everything runs on schedule, the former president will be in his element, bouncing about on a houseboat off the Florida Keys, surrounded by gaffs, game fish and grandchildren.

The family reunion off Florida with his two sons, his pretty daughters-in-law, his six grandchildren and as many old friends as he can lay hands on has always been a fixed feast on Mr. Hoover's calendar until 1949.

But the former president, now pushing 75, has postponed the reunion from February until March this year in order to finish the job set him by Congress.

Except when called on for public service, which happens more and more frequently these days, Mr. Hoover probably lives more quietly and farther removed from the public eye than any former president in memory, even Calvin Coolidge.

For many years, Mr. Hoover has accomplished a singular feat. He has lived almost in anonymity in New York, the gossip columnists' paradise. And in the Waldorf-Astoria, to boot. Yet most New Yorkers and their fellow citizens throughout the land still think of him as living in California the year round.

This elder statesman leads a singularly active life. An 18-hour day has always been routine for him and still is when he is swamped with work, as with the present report.

Despite the mountains of work he tackles, the former president, who will be 75 on next Aug. 10, is in excellent health. His hair is snow white now, and thin on top. But his blue eyes are as clear and sharp as ever, and his complexion fresh and rosy.

Mr. Hoover's day begins with a brisk constitutional before his 8:45 a. m. breakfast. Then he is ready for the business of the day, if he has not waked at 5 or 6 a. m. and gotten a head start long before his staff arrives.

These early rising hours, acquired in mining camps in his youth and once the despair of cabinet officers and friends, still cling to him occasionally. However, now that he is in his 75th year, he does his best to lie abed till 7:30 a. m.

He gives an extraordinary amount of time to the Boys' Clubs of America, of which he is chairman. In his quiet way, he has done wonders for these clubs and through them, for underprivileged children.

The Hoover institute and library on war, revolution and pearce, one of the most extraordinary cache of source documents of 20th century history in the world, is among his major interests.

Mining and fishing are his first loves. He now mines vicariously through his sons, Herbert jr., and Allan, both eminently successful mining engineers.

He has always found time to take his grandchildren to the circus. Allan's children are still young enough to offer him that excuse. Grandpa and the children enjoy themselves enormously.

If Mr. Hoover has any vice, aside from hard work and fishing, it is smoking. But, naturally he is not a chain smoker. He merely smokes a pipe whenever he is not smoking cigars!

Mr. Hoover probably knows more about the trout streams of America than any man. Occasionally, he even writes a magazine piece about his hobby. He has fished his way from coast to coast and from border to border. Less hardy friends groan that no physical punishment is too great for him—or them—if the fish are biting. He fishes as avidly now as ever.
